GANDHI'S BODY CREMATED ON PYRE IGNITED BY SON, THOUSANDS IN PROCESSION

HUGE CROWD SOBS AT BURNING GHAT RITUAL ON BANK OF RIVER JUMNA

Assassinated Leader Borne Through New Delhi in Cortege Over 5-Mile Route Amid Showers of Roses.

By G. MILTON KELLY

NEW DELHI, Jan. 31 (AP)—The body of Mohandas K. Gandhi was cremated today in the ancient Hindu ceremony of the burning ghat, his eldest son touching off the funeral pyre on the bank of the River Jumna.

Tens of thousands of Indians, sobbing and shouting the name of the Mahatma (Great Soul), surged forward as Devadas Gandhi, heavy with grief, applied a torch to the pyre and set ablaze the pile of sandalwood logs.

A tremendous sobbing chant surged from the crowd—a Hindu hymn for India's prophet of peace, who was struck down last night by an assassin's bullet on his way to a prayer meeting. In a mighty roaring unison, the crowd chanted the prayers of the last rites, as police struggled to restrain the grieving people.

The ceremony came at the end of a five-hour procession from Birla House to the burning ground. Thousands on thousands of Indians trudged the five miles afoot, slowing the procession. Gandhi's body, draped with the flag of India and on a platform atop a motor car, was strewn with roses and rose petals as showers of the flowers fluttered from windows and rooftops along the route.

Funeral Pyre Ritual.

Before Devadas Gandhi ignited the pyre, he and close friends of the family poured gallons of ghee (an oil made from clarified butter) onto it from brass and earthen pots, to make the wood more volatile. Then Devadas walked around the pyre three times in a ceremony symbolic of the severance of mortal ties between father and son.

First at the body's head and then at the foot the son, his face drawn, applied a ghee-dipped torch. The flames took over quickly as Devadas placed his torch on the pyre above his father's heart. He was spared an ordeal of some Hindu funerals, that of placing a live coal directly on the chest over the heart.

The flames leaped 10 feet high in the growing dusk. Within an hour the pyre, built on a three-foot brick base, was a glowing bed of coals. Police drove the crowd back 10 feet to avert possible tragedies. Military officials said the crowd, which formed a rough circle with the pyre as its center, was probably half mile in diameter.

Many Try to Take Souvenirs.

Many persons dashed forward to take souvenirs of ash and charred wood, but soldiers stopped that.

Devadas Gandhi and his brother, Ramadas, then bathed in the nearby river. They had fasted since their father's death, and could eat only after they bathed.

TWO GET $6000 IN STORE HOLDUP AT GRAND AND OLIVE

Two men, one armed with a revolver, fled with between $6000 and $8000 in cash after holding up three women employes in the cashier's office of a F. W. Woolworth Co. store at 515 North Grand boulevard, in the Grand-Olive district, shortly after 2 p.m. today.

The robbers, one tall and the other short, walked through the busy store and mounted a stairway leading to the balcony offices at the rear of the building. The short robber, who carried a black handbag asked Miss Bernice Rose, the cashier, for the assistant manager, William Hoopes. Told that Hoopes was in the store downstairs, the man drew a revolver and instructed three other women in the two offices to keep on working.

While the tall man, who did not display a weapon, waited at the door, the short robber climbed through a window between the offices, into the cashier's office.

"Where's the dough?" he asked Miss Rose.

"He told me to open the safe,

KILLER OF GANDHI HELD, 15 SEIZED AS CONSPIRATORS

By P. D. SHARMA

NEW DELHI, Jan. 31 (UP)—Police investigating the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi arrested 15 persons in Bombay today. Officials charged that the murder was part of a conspiracy which has "spread its tentacles around New Delhi."

The 15 arrested in Bombay were charged as being in the conspiracy with Narayan Vinayak Gadse, extremist Hindu editor from Poona, who shot Gandhi.

Gadse was quoted by police as admitting he and a band of five conspirators had plotted to kill Gandhi and had been responsible for the unsuccessful bombing at Birla House Jan. 20. When the bomb plot failed the conspirators, according to Gadse, determined to make individual attempts at assassination.

Charged With Murder.

Gadse was formally charged with murder and remanded into custody. He was disclosed to be the editor of the Hindu Rashtra (Nation), organ of the extremist Mahasabha Hindu faction.

Gadse is about 32 years old, of medium build with sharp features and keen eyes. Although he was first reported to have attempted suicide after killing Gandhi, it was disclosed that his head wound was received when he was hit by a soldier after Gandhi was struck down.

Police believed the conspirators, coming from the bitterly reactionary Hindu region of Poona, near Bombay, had laid a carefully calculated plot to overthrow the moderate government of Premier Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru by striking first at Gandhi and then at other moderates, including Nehru and his Moslem associate, Maulana Azad.

This plot, police officials said, "has spread its tentacles around New Delhi." They believed that the plot had originated with members of the secret militant Hindu organization known as Rashtriya Sewak Sangha (political servants of the country).

Advocates Blood Purge.

This organization seeks to turn India inward and back to its medieval history. It advocates Hindustan for the Hindus, a blood purge or mass conversion of all Moslems, abolition of Pakistan by warfare, and a return to the strictest ancient beliefs and practices of Hinduism.

Bombay police believed that the group of 15 arrested there was directly linked with the assassination. They said they had reason to believe the group operated by means of a lottery through which the assassin drew his assignment to kill Gandhi by lot.

Gadse was described by persons who knew him in Bombay as a maniac. He had long been known as one of the most virulent Hindu opponents of Gandhi and the All-India Congress party.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW RULING ON POLICE UNION

Nine Fired Policemen Call Missouri Tribunal Division 'Repugnant'—Due Process Plea.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31 (AP)—The United States Supreme Court will review a decision of the Missouri Supreme Court holding that St. Louis police officers do not have the right to join a labor union, the State Court was informed today.

The Missouri Court held last Nov. 10 that the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners had the right to invoke a rule barring union membership for policemen.

Such membership in a labor union, the court held, might cause "friction and dissension within the force and create prejudice and favoritism in the enforcement of the laws. . . . So long as human nature is what it is, a man cannot serve two masters."

In their petition to the United States Supreme Court, nine discharged policemen contended the Missouri Court erred in upholding the rule barring unions. They declared such a regulation was "repugnant" to the rights of freedom of speech and assembly and denied without due process of law the right of policemen to join a union.

The case began late in 1945 when Gov. Phil M. Donnelly stepped in. He ordered the Police Board to invoke the rule against any police officers who refused to drop their membership in a new policemen's union.

Almost immediately, Donnelly's appointed chairman of the board, Mark D. Eagleton, resigned. He argued police had a constitutional right to union membership.

Donnelly then appointed H. Sam Priest to head the board, the rule was enforced and nine officers were dismissed because they refused to abandon their union affiliation.

The dismissed men asked a St. Louis Circuit Court to find against the board rule, but the case was dismissed. On appeal to one division of the State Supreme Court the board rule was held valid, and the Circuit Court was ordered to rescind its dismissal and issue a declaratory judgment upholding the rule.

But the four-judge division referred the case to the court en banc, with all seven judges of the State's highest court considering the issue. Its opinion was handed down last November.

FINED DESPITE PLEA HE HAD TO KEEP 30 FAMILIES WARM

A janitor's plea that he had "30 families to keep warm" failed to impress a Police Court judge today as an excuse for leaving the scene of an accident.

Fred Robinson, Negro, a janitor for an apartment building at 5041 Waterman boulevard, was fined $25 by Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro.

When Robinson offered his solicitude for the tenants as the reason for driving away after his automobile struck a parked car on Lindell boulevard, near Boyle avenue, yesterday, Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish wanted to know if Robinson later called the owner. The defendant said "not yet."

"Then we'll make it hot for you," Fish replied.

SNOW HAMPERS TRAFFIC; ONE MAN KILLED, SEVERAL HURT IN CRASHES

3 Inches at Airport at 8 A.M.—Two 6-Car Collisions in St. Louis Area—Express Highway Is Reopened.

Snow, accompanied by some sleet during the night, hampered traffic in St. Louis and throughout the state today. The icy condition of the streets and roads caused numerous accidents, resulting in injuries to several persons and one death in this area.

The Express Highway was closed at 2:30 a.m. today, shortly after a man had been injured on the highway, but was reopened at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

By 6 a.m. there were 2 inches of snow on the ground in the city. The fall was measured at 1.5 inches since it began about 8 o'clock last night. At Lambert-St. Louis Airport, three inches of snow fell from midnight to 8 a.m. today.

Snow to Continue.

The Weather Bureau expected the snow to continue throughout the day and into tonight. St. Louis and towns north along the Mississippi had the coldest weather in the state. An exception was Tarkio, in northwest Missouri—always a leader in low temperatures—where the thermometer showed 12 above.

The low here was 14 degrees at 8 a.m., a 12-degree drop since midnight. Harry F. Wahlgren, meteorologist, said the mass of cold air in the north dropped a little farther south than he had expected.

A severe cold wave struck the northeastern states, and hundreds of families in New York were reported suffering because of insufficient fuel for heating homes. A fuel-oil priority system was established. The temperature dropped to zero in New York, incoming trains were delayed as much as three hours and all snow removal and garbage collections were halted.

Man Killed Near Warrenton.

The man killed as the result of icy road conditions was Clifford H. Lohman of Warrenton, Mo., who was struck by a truck as he was flagging traffic around a stalled automobile on U. S. Highway 40, west of Warrenton, last night.

George Williams, attorney, 504 Greeley avenue, Webster Groves, suffered fractures of the right arm, right leg and several fingers early today in an accident on the Express Highway west of Kingshighway.

An automobile driven by Williams had locked bumpers with another machine and, as he was trying to disengage them, a third automobile struck one of the stalled cars. Williams was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Traffic was snarled for 45 minutes on the east approach of MacArthur bridge early today when six automobiles and trucks became involved in a collision. Another six-car collision occurred in the 7600 block of St. Charles Rock road in St. Louis county.

In East St. Louis poor visibility caused one motorist to run into a light standard at the end of a dead-end street and another to crash into the side of a house.

Car Skids, Hits Train.

Robert Incher, 20 years old, 4100 Edgewood avenue, Pine Lawn, was treated at Jewish Hospital for cuts suffered when his automobile skidded into the side of a slowly-moving train on the Wabash track at Jennings road, Jennings.

Frank E. Harr, a state health inspector, 7531A Forsythe boulevard, Clayton, was seriously injured last night when struck by an automobile at Eighteenth and Market streets. The driver did not stop. Harr, who is in City Hospital, suffered a head injury and fractured left leg.

Mrs. William Stewart, 1408 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, suffered a fractured left knee cap when she slipped on the icy pavement today. The highway patrols in Illinois and Missouri warned motorists to drive slowly because of hazardous conditions.

RADIO MIXUP: C.B.S. IS N.B.C. 40 SECONDS; SWITCHING ERROR

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—For 40 seconds last night C.B.S. was N.B.C. and everybody was confused, especially a nation-wide audience.

It all happened this way, a C.B.S. spokesman explained:

The network had arranged with the American Broadcasting Co. to "feed" the "March of Dimes" program onto the C.B.S. lines.

But—A.B.C., recently divorced from the National Broadcasting Co., still uses N.B.C.'s master control room. N.B.C. was not broadcasting the "Dimes" program.

So—the A.B.C. switch into the C.B.S. lines was handled by an A.B.C. engineer. Unwittingly, he threw the wrong lever or turned the wrong switch.

And—for 40 seconds at the beginning of the program listeners to C.B.S. heard a news commentary by N.B.C.'s Morgan Beatty.

Everything was quickly straightened out, though, and things went smoothly for the rest of the program.

Clerk's Ink Freezes, Trial Halts.

CHARLES P. TAFT BACKS MARSHALL PLAN, SAYS IT WILL FAIL IF 'GRUDGING'

Senator's Brother, Testifying for Church Group, Also Cautions Against By-Passing State Department.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Charles P. Taft backed the long-range European recovery program today. But, in doing so, he apparently differed on some points with his older brother, Senator Robert Taft (Rep.), Ohio.

Charles Taft, a Cincinnati lawyer, appeared as witness for the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, which he heads.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: The Marshall plan "will fail for sure if the program is grudging and half-hearted." He also cautioned Congress against trying to cut out historic State Department functions in operating the plan.

Senator Robert Taft is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. He considers the Marshall plan "a desirable and necessary program to help the Western European countries" get on their feet. But he has opposed the amount of aid, $6,800,000,000, sought by the Administration to operate the plan the first 15 months. He thinks that can be trimmed, possibly to five billions. The Senator also opposes any four-year plan of spending in Europe, as requested by President Truman.

Asked About Three Points.

Charles Taft served in the State Department more than two years during the war. When he finished testifying, a reporter asked if he had not differed with the Senator on these points: The role of the State Department, the first amount of money to be provided, and the long-term program rather than for one year.

"You will have to judge that for yourself," Taft said with a broad smile.

In introducing him, Chairman Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, said the witness was testifying "not for the Taft family, as I see it?"

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America gave warm support to the Marshall plan in the statement he read. Then he produced another, similar, manuscript which he said represented his own personal views.

Two New Proposals.

Meanwhile, two new proposals for changes in the aid plan were put into its consideration by Congress.

One would give a United States administrator — and Congress — greater control over how the money is used. The other would encourage Latin America to ship food to Europe in a barter-exchange arrangement for United States machinery.

Eighteen Republican Senators agreed at a meeting late last night that the program should be used to "finance projects, not deficits."

They said they favored a change which would compel the 16 Marshall plan nations to submit specific recovery projects to the United States administrator, who could either accept or reject them.

Senator Ball (Rep.), Minnesota, spokesman for the "revisionist" group, said the administrator would be directed to hold back aid that might be used for nationalization or socialization of industry—or for "expensive" social security systems which would "deaden incentive."

As the Marshall plan stands now, Ball said, the United States would merely "underwrite European trade deficits." (A trade deficite exists when a nation loses money by importing more than it exports.)

The present plan, he added, would give the European countries almost complete control over how the money is used.

The program developed by the 18 Republicans would give that power to the administrator, who would be responsible to Congress, rather than to the State Department.

Barter Proposal.

The plan to make European aid easier on the United States by setting up a barter system with Latin America was suggested yesterday by C. A. Barrett of Pittsburgh.

Barrett, an industrial engineer and American Legion director, told the committee that under his proposal—

"We keep our dollars at home, we provide jobs at home, and we get the food we need to send to Europe without straining our own economy."

BARBARA HUTTON IMPROVED AFTER SECOND OPERATION

BERN, Jan. 31 (AP)—The former Barbara Hutton underwent a second operation today. Her condition was described as critical this morning but had improved tonight.

Doctors said the Woolworth heiress, the wife of Prince Troubetskoy, is in no immediate danger. She underwent a major operation last week to overcome an intestinal ailment. Today's operation was termed a minor abdominal operation. She had suffered a relapse last night.

Another major operation may be necessary, the doctors said. The Princess is 35 years old.

SUPERINTENDENT OUT AFTER HE ASSAILS ACTIONS BY GOVERNOR

By BOYD F. CARROLL

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31 — Gov. Donnelly today fired John C. Tindall as superintendent of the Training School for Boys at Boonville and announced that he had directed the State Highway Patrol to make a complete and impartial investigation of all the state's training schools, including the one at Boonville, the Training School for Girls at Chillicothe and the Training School for Negro Girls at Tipton.

The Governor's action in firing Tindall came after he had dismissed all six members of the State Board of Training Schools in telegrams last night. Tindall's dismissal was conveyed to him by Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol.

After Waggoner had handed the superintendent the brief one-page notice, he telephoned the Governor at his office here and informed him that Tindall had accepted the notice and had told Waggoner that he would get out. Tindall previously had said he would not leave his job until notified to do so by the board which had employed him.

Donnelly said a new training school board will be appointed by him, but not until after the investigation of all three training schools is under way. He said he wanted Col. Waggoner to start the investigation immediately.

Wants Complete Inquiry.

"I want a complete investigation, including personnel, facilities, equipment, food, clothing, discipline—in fact, everything involving management and operation of the schools," the Governor said.

"The patrol will make an impartial and unbiased investigation" he added, "and I will give the public the facts contained in the report when it is completed."

Concerning the firing of Tindall, the Governor said he did not want to be tough about this." Tindall, who lives in the superintendent's home on the Boonville school grounds will be given a reasonable length of time to move out and return to his home in Springfield, Donnelly said.

The message Waggoner took to Tindall recited the Governor's action in the last 24 hours in dismissing the members of the board and in taking over the operation of all the training schools, with Waggoner as his agent and with Patrolman W. S. Bartin of Independence as superintendent of the Boonville institution.

Criticized Governor.

Tindall had been outspoken in his criticism of the Governor's action, stating it was "Hitler tactics."

The message Tindall received, read, in part: "You are notified that by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor by the constitution of Missouri, I do hereby discharge you as superintendent of the Training School for Boys at Boonville, effective as of this date."

Donnelly also was bitterly criticized for firing the board by two of its members. The ousters of board members became effective at 5 p.m. last night.

Most bitter criticism came today from Thomas P. Neill (Dem.), St. Louis board member, who said "the Governor has undoubtedly tried to create a crisis at Boonville, and if any crisis exists, it is the creation of the Governor so that he could remove the board without a hearing."

Inquiry Planned.

Neill, who received his ouster telegram a few hours after he had mailed a letter to the Governor refusing to resign, said that "for reasons which I cannot fathom, the Governor seems to be very, very anxious to block an investigation of conditions at the Boonville school." A special State Senate committee is scheduled to meet here next week to determine when an investigation of the school will begin.

"I predict that under whatever new administration the Governor puts in at Boonville," Neill told the Post-Dispatch, "the 'iron curtain' again will descend, the people will get no information on actual conditions there, but they will be told by the Governor and his appointees that everything is all right."

In his letter declining to resign, Neill said the demand for the resignations of such prominent men as Fred W. Naeter (Rep.), Cape Girardeau; Chairman William M. Wildeboor (Dem.), Jefferson City, and W. Robert Evans (Rep.), Kansas City, revealed "pettiness rather than statesmanship."

He took issue in detail with the Governor's charges against the board and said after careful study "I hoped to discover, by calm calculation, some way of acceding to

MAN FOUND DEAD SEEMINGLY FROM FUMES OF FIRE

Brother Visiting Richmond Heights Resident Apparently Had Tried to Phone.

Ray Curran, 48 years old, of Risco, Mo., was found dead today at his brother's home, 7065 Mitchell avenue, Richmond Heights, by police who were summoned after a telephone repair man was unable to get into the house to investigate a report that the telephone had been left off the hook. Police Chief Oliver Brueggeman said Curran apparently had been asphyxiated by fumes from a fire that started in an upholstered chair and burned through the floor before going out.

Curran, clad in pajamas, was found seated beside the telephone in the living room. The telephone receiver had been removed from the hook. A portion of the floor near the body had been burned through.

Chief Brueggeman said Curran apparently fell asleep while smoking in the chair, was awakened by fumes or smoke from the fire, went to the telephone and started to place a call to the fire department. However, Chief Brueggeman said, he apparently was overcome before he was able to complete the call.

Curran, a liquor salesman, had been visiting at the home, police said. His brother, Irvine Curran, is a patient at the Veterans' Hospital, and Curran was alone in the house at the time the fire started.

'I Turn Over This Institution With Relief,' He Says After Getting Letter Dismissing Him.

By SELWYN PEPPER.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Jan. 31 — Troopers of the Missouri State Highway Patrol were in full charge of the State Training School for Boys here today as John C. Tindall, superintendent, who had been fired by Gov. Donnelly, was packing his bags preparatory to leaving.

Tindall, who previously had charged that the Governor had used "Hitler tactics" in seizing the schools, told reporters: "I turn over this institution with relief. I am not resigning, however. I have been discharged."

He made the statement after a 10-minute conference this afternoon with Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, chief of the State Highway Patrol, who brought to Boonville a letter from the Governor informing Tindall of his discharge.

"This is the first official communication I have had from the Governor since this dispute started," Tindall said.

Had Been Advising Tr

Earlier in the day, he h[illegible]n acting in an advisory capac[illegible] to Trooper W. S. Barton, who has been designated as administrative head of the school. After receiving the Governor's letter, however, he announced: "I am now leaving the institution entirely, and I will move from my residence as soon as possible."

He said he and his family would return to Springfield, Mo., where he formerly was an advisory supervisor at the United States Medical Center. He has been assured a job in the federal prison system, though his old position has been filled.

"I contend this is not my problem, this is the public's problem," he said. "Will the public abide by these Hitler tactics, or by the laws passed by the Legislature, the representatives of the people of the state?

"The question is whether the merit system is worth the paper it is written on, or whether the public would rather have this institution remain a political plum."

Waggoner, expressing the hope that the patrol would have no difficulty in operating the school without Tindall's advice, said: "We will run the school under strict supervision on a 24-hour basis."

Indicating that the troopers would be tough, he said: "We are

TREE GROWS LEMONS AT TOP, TANGERINES BELOW, TASS SAYS

LONDON, Jan. 31 (UP)—A Tass dispatch heard on the Moscow radio reported that "two-story" trees were on display at a Soviet Ministry of Agriculture exhibition in Moscow.

Overworked Soldier Mailed Secret Normandy Invasion Data to Sister.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Army confirmed today that secret data on the invasion of Europe was lost in the mail 14 weeks before the troops hit the Normandy beaches.

Officials said a sergeant at headquarters in England, "tired from overwork and worried about his sister's illness," sent the papers to her address in America by mistake. That was on Feb. 24, 1944.

The papers were intended for Army headquarters in Washington.

The officials said they "did not reveal the assault date, the target area or strength of the assault force" and would have been useless to the enemy.

The envelope was addressed to the right Army department, but to the sister's street number and city, the officials said. Post office authorities were unable to find any such department at that number. They turned the packet over to the Army.

The officials said the papers left England in an official envelope of a type forbidden for personal use. Hence it did not go through normal censorship.

The sergeant, they added, was "completely exonerated of any deliberate criminality." He received his honorable discharge late in 1945. The Army declined to disclose his name.

Lady Luck Expensive: 10 Million Americans Buy Rabbit's Foot

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—A rabbit's foot to bring luck costs from 10 cents to $5, and Americans have bought 10,000,000 of them.

They also spend $125,000,000 annually on fortune tellers, John R. Saunders, associate curator of education at the American Museum of Natural History, told the Cooper Union Forum last night.

The sale of dream books, horoscopes, lucky charms and other items for the superstitious has become a big business, Saunders said.

The big cost of this is not financial, he added, but in our thinking.

The problems of today, Saunders said, call for "clear thinking free of the hindrances of bias, error and unfounded beliefs or superstitions. Superstition is an intellectual cost which, if we allow it to increase, may well prohibit the progress of human welfare."

"Superstitious practices and beliefs persist in practically every aspect of human behavior. Most of us still follow our lucky hunches. We play the races and the stock market in the same primitive, unreasonable and unscientific manner."

ITALY ANNOUNCES AGREEMENT WITH U.S. ON FRIENDSHIP AND TRADE TREATY

Pact to Be Signed Monday—Rome Rebuffs Russian Protest on Visits by American Warships.

ROME, Jan. 31 (UP)—Italy and the United States will sign a treaty of friendship, trade and navigation next Monday, the Foreign Office reported today.

The treaty will be the first signed by the United States with any European country since the war, and the first signed by Italy since the fall of Fascism.

It will be permanent, the Foreign Office reported, in the sense that no expiration date will be specified.

fied. Text of the treaty will be released simultaneously in Rome and Washington Monday.

The treaty will be signed Monday evening at the Foreign Office by Ambassador James C. Dunn and Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza, authorities reported. It was described as lacking either political or military clauses.

The treaty will become effective on ratification by a two-thirds vote of the United States Senate and by a special committee of Italy's Chamber of Deputies to be elected in April.

The pact will establish—for the first time with any European nation—a mutual agreement for the free exchange of information. Unhampered facilities for the flow of news will be guaranteed.

The treaty can be terminated by mutual agreement or by renunciation by either of the two countries.

It replaces an agreement signed in 1871 and abrogated by mutual consent in December 1937, during the rule of Benito Mussolini. Negotiations for the new pact began last Sept. 16.

The instrument recognizes most favored nation treatment and includes international rules of conduct, quota arrangements and recognition of several world banking, trade and commerce organizations. Mutual property rights provisions also are included in the 30 articles.

The treaty report came after the Italian Government had told Russia that Italy, as a sovereign state, was the one to raise objections, if any, against the presence of American warships in Italian waters.

Russia announced yesterday through the Moscow radio that Soviet protests against the presence of American warships in Italian waters had been made to the United States and other signatories of the Italian peace treaty.

Twelve American warships, including an aircraft carrier, now are in Italian waters, according to United States naval headquarters in London.

The Italian note said bluntly that "sovereign" Italy "is the only one to judge if there is any reason to raise objections or take protests" against the presence of the ships.

A Foreign Office statement noted that American ships visit other Mediterranean ports after the usual diplomatic arrangements with the countries concerned.

It said Italy would extend the same port privileges to ships of other nations than the United States.

Marshall Decides to Reject Two Russian Protests.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall has decided to reject two Russian protests against United States Air Force and naval activity in the Mediterranean.

A formal note so advising Moscow will be ready early next week, the State Department says.

The Soviet Union has complained about Air Force plans to reopen a wartime airfield in Libya and visits by United States warships to Italian ports. The Russians claim these moves violate the peace treaty with Italy.

A State Department official said the American view is:

1. Britain is occupying the former Italian colony of Libya until there is a final decision on its status. Britain's permission to use the field is all this country needs under the treaty.

2. The custom of warships calling at ports of friendly foreign countries with their permission is centuries old. The United States has Italy's permission, so the treaty is not even involved.

Gets Life for Killing Bride.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 31 (AP)—James Townsend, 21 years old, who pleaded guilty of killing his 19-year-old bride of three months in an attempt "to scare her to bring back her affection," was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment. He testified he pointed a rifle at his wife, intending "only to wound her in the shoulder." The bullet struck her in the head.

Donnelly Ousts Boonville Board

your request in good conscience. I am sorry that I have not been able to perform such an act of mental gymnatstics."

Concerning the Governor's charge that the board's action in requesting an investigation of conditions at the school was a confession of its failure to handle the situation, Neill said: "You are too intelligent a man to take this argument seriously, and I think you insult our intelligences in offering it."

Calls Tindall Competent.

Neill, who said he was "interested in the boys at Boonville and not in the cows," wrote that Superintendent Tindall was a "competent superintendent." Regardless of the Governor's statement that conditions at the school were becoming worse, Neill said, an impartial investigation would show they had improved.

"I do not mean to imply that the board could not have done better work," Neill wrote. "Our mistakes have been mainly in not taking steps more quickly—and the chief of these was our not dismissing (the Rev. LeRoy) Munyon as soon as he proved his utter incompetence to us." The Rev. Mr. Munyon, pastor of the church the Governor attends in his home town of Lebanon, was appointed superintendent of the school by the Governor.

In conclusion, Neill wrote:

"Your approach to Boonville and to the whole problem of juvenile delinquency is fundamentally different from mine. I believe that Missouri has taken the first steps toward having a respectable training school setup. That belief is corroborated by statements of almost everyone in juvenile delinquency work throughout the country. That is why I cannot help you wreck this whole movement by tendering you my resignation. The full moral responsibility is on your shoulders."

From his home in Kansas City Evans said he thought the "Governor's course was one not authorized by the constitution."

"I had intended to inform the Governor today," Evans said, "that I considered a compliance with his request to resign would constitute an admittance that the board was unable to discharge its responsibilities.

"I make no such admittance."

Reaction of the other ousted members of the board was somewhat different. At Cape Girardeau, Naeter said, "I am not going to say a word and am not going to grouch about it." He previously had said he would not bother to send in a resignation, because he considered he was out after the Governor requested his resignation.

"I am not very badly hurt," Naeter said. "I should not have let the Governor talk me into taking this job. If I haven't got sense enough to take care of myself, the.. I haven't any right to bellyache.

"I have said several times that Gov. Donnelly was a good Governor. When he starts down the road he goes right down the road. He usually knows what he is doing.

"I was not going to resign, but I was not going to write to him."

Naeter expressed hope the Legislature would speedily pass, and the Governor sign, a pending bill providing more effective powers for administraton of the training school.

Mrs. Mayme H. Ousley (Rep.), a member of the board from St. James, who previously had said, "the Governor appointed me and he'll have to remove me if he so desires," had nothing to add to her statement after receiving the telegram last night. She said, however, she would not issue a statement today, in accordance with an agreement by other members of the board that they would announce their own individual actions at 9 a.m. today, concerning the letters demanding their resignations.

Mrs. Tom Stark (Dem.), Louisiana, today protested against the Governor's action and announced she would not resign.

"I have not resigned nor do I intend to resign," she said, in a telegram sent to Gov. Donnelly. "I do not think there are grounds for removal."

Chairman's Comment.

Chairman Wildeboor said he had planned to send a letter to the governor today, but since receiving the telegram he believed a letter would be useless.

"It is no longer my headache," he said. "It's probably the Governor's headache now. It's all finished as far as I am concerned. I feel pretty good. I will have nothing more to say."

Wildeboor received a number of telegrams from welfare organizations urging him to remain as chairman of the board and not to comply with the Governor's request.

The Governor, meanwhile, said he had no comment to make.

It was reported here, however, that Tindall would be removed as superintendent of Boonville today and that Louis J. Sharp, director of the state's training schools, would be dismissed at some later date.

The schools the Governor took over by his executive action are the Boonville institution, the Training School for Girls at Chillicothe and the Training School for Negro Girls at Tipton.

The Governor acted under section 17 of article four of the 1945 Constitution. This section, relating to elective and appointive state officials, contains a provision "all appointive officers may be removed by the Governor."

The statute creating the board of training schools contains a section providing the Governor may remove any members of the board "for inefficiency, malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance in office, or for any cause which renders him incapable or unfit to discharge his official duties."

The section further provides that before removal of a member, written charges shall be filed with or by the Governor, copies sent to each member, including the one against whom charges are filed, "an opportunity to be heard shall be given before the Governor and in the presence of a quorum of the board." The section requires that in the event of such a removal, the Governor shall file with the Secretary of State a statement of the charges and his findings.

The Governor declined to comment on the legal question involved, other than to say he acted under his constitutional powers.

Law and Charter.

It is known, however, that the provisions in the training school board law concerning cause, charges and hearings, as to removal of members, were considered to go beyond and in conflict with the constitutional provision as to the Governor's power in removal of appointive state officers. That constitutional provision contains no requirement as to cause, charges or hearings.

The executive order under which Donnelly took charge of the training schools stated that since the board members had been removed, there now was no officer or board to administer the laws concerning the training schools.

The order added that the Governor, by virtue of the authority vested in him by section 2, article 4 of the Constitution, "enjoining upon me the duty of taking care that the laws are faithfully executed," was taking charge and control of the training schools.

Donnelly, in calling for resignations of the board members in a letter last Tuesday night, declared conditions at Boonville had been growing worse, instead of improving, although the board had been in charge of the school since July 1, 1946.

He cited disturbed conditions, two murders within the Boonville school in the last six months, approximately 300 escapes in the last 12 months, and said life and property of citizens in Boonville had been endangered by the conduct and escapes of inmates of the school.

Col. Waggoner and Barton left Jefferson City yesterday afternoon, following announcement of the ouster, to take charge of the training school at Boonville. Waggoner directed seven highway patrolmen to report for duty at the school last night, for any emergency.

Donnelly sent telegrams to each of the board members yesterday afternoon, notifying them of their removal, shortly before making public his action. The text of the identical telegrams follows:

"In a letter dated Jan. 27, addressed to you and the other members of the State Board of Training Schools, I requested your immediate resignation as a member of said board.

"I have received no reply to that letter, however, according to news dispatches five members of the board met in Jefferson City Jan. 29, and after the adjournment of this meeting some members stated, according to news dispatches, that they would not resign as members of said board, while others are alleged to have stated they will wait for a later time to announce their decision.

"Such attitude on the part of the members of the board, together with the unsettled condition at the Training School for Boys at Boonville, further demonstrates the necessity for positive administrative leadership at the training school, and that this should be made effective at once.

"Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor by the constitution of Missouri, I do hereby remove you as a member of the state board of training schools, effective at 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30, 1948."

SECOND FIRING BY WIRE OF ENTIRE STATE BOARD BY A GOVERNOR IN 11 YEARS

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

USE of telegrams by Gov. Donnelly yesterday afternoon in notifying members of the State Board of Training Schools that they had been removed from office was the second time in slightly more than 11 years that a Missouri Governor has fired an entire State Board by wire.

On S. . 18, 1936, the late Gov. Guy B. Park removed the four members of the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners. Terse telegrams notified them of their ouster and appointment of their successors.

Park removed the election commissioners after an investigation of irregularities in registration of voters in St. Louis. The commissioners removed were Chairman James A. Waechter and Joseph W. Hannauer, Democrats, and Charles L. Moore and Stephen M. Wagner, Republicans.

TINDALL PACKS AFTER LETTER OF DISMISSAL

Employes Retained.

Staff members of the school, 30 guards and about 50 clerks, teachers and administrative personnel, will remain on their jobs, Waggoner assured a group of worried employes in a brief talk in the Administration Building.

The school itself is tense and "buttoned down," as Tindall put it. A basketball game with a Boonville school was canceled last night. Word soon traveled by the grapevine from cottage to cottage that something was happening.

Cars of Highway Patrol cruised slowly about the campus, starting at 5:30 p.m. and continuing through the night. Troopers carried their usual sidearms—pistols—and placed their rifles and extra pistols in a vault in the office. They preferred not leave any weapons in their automobiles. Civilian guards remained in the cottages with the boys.

Nine state troopers patrolled the grounds last night and 18 were to be here this morning. They will stay "for a few days," Col. Waggoner, dapper in a business suit, told reporters.

Barton, temporary superintendent, explained his men would sleep in the hospital on the second floor of the administration building. "We're going to be present wherever there are groups of boys," he added.

Barton, 37 years old and 6 feet 3 inches tall, has been a member of the State Patrol eight years. He is stationed in Independence. Before joining the Patrol, he taught high school for four years at Brookfield and was also athletic director at the State Penitentiary for a year.

'I Hate to Leave Task Unfinished.'

Before the State Patrol officers arrived, Tindall remarked: "I hate to leave this task unfinished. We are headed in the right direction. It's a shame the boys will have to suffer as a result of a little political maneuvering.

"I've been receiving letters every day from mothers of boys who are here and from welfare associations and other groups concerned with our work, praising us for the progress we've made and telling us of the improved physical appearance of the kids and the change in their mental attitudes.

"The boys appreciate being treated like human beings for once in their lives. They feel kindly toward me. They'll resent stopping their privileges, but after I heard what had happened in Jefferson City, I gave orders that there shall be no activities tonight. I want everyone in the cottages when the place is taken over.

"I am just now gaining the confidence of the boys. A boy about 14 came to me this afternoon. He had run away about 10 times. He said he felt like running away again. He told me he liked to be left alone. He liked to read, but the others wouldn't let him. I moved him into a company with older boys.

"I've told them if they have any problems to come to me and we'll talk them over. They've been coming every day."

Worried Employe.

In the group of worried employes who gathered during the evening in the Administration building was Leo Lane, who resigned Wednesday, as probation parole officer for the Southeast District of Missouri to become personnel director at the training school, effective tomorrow. Now he fears that he will be jobless. His wife supervises the activities of younger boys at the school in Company B.

Directing state troopers patrolling the grounds last night was Capt. C. E. Potts, head of Troop F at Jefferson City. Col. Waggoner also was accompanied by Capt. H. J. Turnbull, inspector of the Highway Patrol.

There were 309 youths in the school when the Highway Patrol took control. Four boys arrived yesterday from St. Louis.

Many telephone calls were made to the training school last night by Boonville residents, asking if any boys had escaped. Presence of an unusual number of Highway Patrol cars aroused curiosity in the Missouri river town, 150 miles west of St. Louis.

While the State Patrol was taking over the training school, a committee headed by Mayor S. L. Jewett met in the courthouse to take action on the resolutions adopted by 200 citizens at a mass meeting the night before. A steering committee of five was appointed.

TRUMAN URGES WHISKY MAKERS TO LIMIT GRAIN USE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman today called on whisky makers to limit their use of grain voluntarily to the rate of 2,500,000 bushels a month established for January. The Government's power to allocate grain to distillers expires at midnight tonight.

Truman asked Congress Thursday for a nine-month extension, saying the shortage of grain "jeopardizes the national security."

In calling on distillers to limit their use of grain voluntarily, Truman expressed regret in a statement that Congress had failed to "act in time" to extend his allocation powers. Te said he hoped Congress would take favorable action as soon as possible.

"It is unthinkable," Truman said, "that at this time, when the need for grain as a food is so great, the distillers in this country should choose to use unlimited quantities of grain in the manufacture of whisky.

"Therefore, I now call upon all users of grain for the production of ethyl alcohol, including both distilled spirits and neutral spirits, to observe, temporarily, the same controls established by the grain conservation order of the Secretary of Agriculture dated Dec. 30, 1947. . . . I ask them not to disturb grain markets by rushing in and purchasing large quantities of cereals."

DEWEY SUBMITS $799,600,000 RECORD HIGH STATE BUDGET

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey submitted to the state Legislature last night a record high state budget providing for $799,600,000 in appropriations, but he estimated net expenditures would not exceed $753,500,000.

Dewey recommended no tax increases. He predicted unprecedented revenues of $758,600,000 on the basis of "a continued high level of business activity." The net expenditure budget of $753,500,000 compares with a 1947-48 "adjusted" budget for $707,500,000, he said.

Over-all appropriations in the current fiscal year, which ends March 31, will reach an estimated $746,000,000 as compared with $799,600,000 in the new budget.

TRUMAN ASKS FOR GENEROUS GIFTS TO MARCH OF DIMES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman asked Americans last night to "give generously" to the March of Dimes. He declared such contributions "the first line of defense" in the war against infantile paralysis.

Broadcasting from the White House on the tenth anniversary of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the President said:

"Much has already been done toward conquering infantaile paralysis, but much more remains to be done before this disease is completely banished from the earth.

"It may take many more years and many more millions of dollars. But it is our heartfelt hope that some day, thanks to unceasing research, we shall find the solution to one of the most baffling medical mysteries of all time."

ATTLEE APPEALS FOR PEACE, PAYS GANDHI TRIBUTE

World Figures Join in Paying Their Respects to India's Dead Spiritual Leader.

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP)—An appeal for peace was made last night by Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee in his broadcast tribute to Mohandas K. Gandhi.

"The voice which pleaded for peace and brotherhood has been silenced, but I am certain his spirit will continue to animate his fellow countrymen and will plead for peace and concord," Attlee said.

"I know that I am expressing the views of the British people in offering to his fellow countrymen our deep sympathy in the loss of their greatest citizen."

The Prime Minister told Britons that the Hindu spiritual leader "was one of the outstanding figures in the world today, but he seemed to belong to a different period of history."

The speech was re-broadcast to India.

Other Tributes.

Elsewhere throughout the world, nations' leaders expressed shock and grief over the assassination of the little peacemaker.

King Farouk of Egypt, a Moslem, sent the Indian Government his "sincere condolences" and hailed Gandhi's struggle for humanitarian ideals.

Secretary General Trygve Lie of the United Nations, in Norway, said "the message of Mahatma Gandhi's death by a murderer's hand will shake every peace-loving person in the world."

In China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek voiced profound sorrow. "A great spiritual leader has been taken away from a world which can ill spare him," he said.

In Moscow, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, Indian Ambassador to Russia, grieved at news of the assassination. In a message to her brother, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, India's Prime Minister, she closed with, "My love to you and the pledge of service in the cause for which Bapu (Father) died."

In Durban, South Africa, Gandhi's son, Manilal, was grief stricken when he heard the news. "He was not only my father but the father of all India," he said.

Mohamed Al Jinnah, Pakistan's governor general, said he had had political differences with Gandhi but was shocked to hear of the Hindu leader's assassination.

"He was one of the greatest leaders of India and the Hindu community," Jinnah said, "and I wish to express my deep sense of sorrow and sympathy to the Hindus and India."

MacArthur's Remarks.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in Tokyo that "nothing more revolting has occurred in the history of the modern world than the senseless assassination" of Gandhi.

"He had come through time and circumstance and his oft-repeated ideologies to be regarded as the very symbol and apotheosis of peace," MacArthur said. "That he should die through violence is one of those bitter anachronisms that seems to refute all logic.

"In the evolution of civilization, if it is to survive, all men cannot fail to eventually adopt his belief that the process of mass application of force to resolve contentious issues is fundamentally not only wrong and useless but within itself contains the germs of self-destruction. Gandhi, however, was one of those prophets who lived far ahead of the times."

At Rangoon, Dr. Ba Maw, prewar premier of Burma, predicted an upsurge of Communism in India as the result of Gandhi's assassination.

"I hesitate to suggest Indian Communists engineered the killing at Moscow's bidding," Ba Maw said, "but Gandhi's death will permit Communist forces to rush headlong uninterruptedly."

Zahid Hussain, high commissioner of Pakistan in New Delhi, said Gandhi was "the greatest man of his time" and the assassination was "a cowardly act of a misguided youth." Many other Moslems joined in similar sentiments.

SUBSTITUTE TAX BILL AGREEMENT BY DEMOCRATS

House Measure Provides for Exemption Rise to $700 and Excess Profits Levy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (UP)—House Democratic leaders today agreed on an income tax reduction bill that will be offered Monday as a substitute for the $6,500,000,000 Republican tax cut measure offered by Representative Knutson of Minnesota.

House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas said the Democratic bill will be offered just before the Republican measure comes to a vote Monday.

The Democratic bill, which stands no chance of being passed, calls for:

1. An increase in personal income tax exemptions from the present $500 to $700. Rayburn said this would cost the Government $3,200,000,000. (The Knutson bill would increase exemptions to $600.)

2. Extending the community property "split-income" principle to all states. Rayburn said this would cut revenues by about $803,000,000 annually. (The Knutson bill contains this.)

3. Imposing an excess profits tax on corporations to provide estimated annual revenues of $3,200,000,000. (The Knutson bill would not increase any taxes.)

The Republican bill would cut incomes tax rates from 30 per cent in the lowest income brackets to 10 per cent in the highest. The Democratic bill would not do this, but would achieve some reduction through the increased exemptions and community property provisions.

The Democratic substitute does not include President Truman's $40-for-everybody tax credit, but the provision to increase exemptions from $500 to $700 would have about the same effect.

Rayburn estimated that the Democratic version would cost the Government a net loss of only $803,000,000 in revenues, compared with the $6,500,000,000 loss in revenue under the Republican measure.

The Democratic substitute was drafted in an effort to prevent some members of the party from swinging over to the Knutson bill.

Agreement on the Democratic proposal was reached at a meeting attended by top Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee. The main purpose of the meeting was to convince Representative Doughton of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, to go along with the proposal. He previously was reported to have had reservations on the excess-profits tax feature.

Knutson claimed today enough Democrats will support his bill to pass it by a 2-to-1 margin. Other Republicans were more cautious about the size of the majority but there was no doubt but that it would pass with plenty of votes to spare.

All the Democrats hope for is a good showing. The substitute has no chance. The Knutson bill wil be voted on under a procedure barring amendments. The Democrats are permitted to offer a single substitute bill.

In the Senate, however, even the Republicans admit the $6,500,000,000 cut provided by the Knutson bill will be trimmed. This will be a bid for Democratic help to override the expected presidential veto by the necessary two thirds majority.

3000 IN U.N. ASKED FOR DAY'S PAY GIFT TO AID CHILDREN

Appeal to Citizens of All Countries Will Be Formally Made Next Week.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 30 (AP)—The United Nations opened a drive yesterday to get its 3000 employes to give one day's pay to the U.N. appeal for children. Officials estimated a 100 per cent return would yield $50,000.

The world-wide appeal formally opens next week. The program calls for citizens of all countries to make a voluntary contribution of one day's pay or some similar amount. Collections will be used to supplement sums already contributed by governments to the International Children's Emergency Fund (ICEF).

The appeal was approved by the U.N. Economics and Social Council nearly a year ago after it became apparent that funds given by governments would fall short. Up to Jan. 1, the ICEF had received about $40,000,000. By the end of 1948, a total of $80,000,000 is expected. The fund is to aid 3,500,000 needy children in 12 European countries.

Byron Price, acting Secretary General of the U.N., said Secretary General Trygve Lie had asked to sign the first pledge.

GREEK COMMANDER IS RELIEVED OF POST

Step Taken as Defense Council Adopts New Plan for War on Guerrillas.

ATHENS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Constantine Ventiris was relieved today as commander in chief of the Greek armed forces fighting the guerrillas in northern Greece.

The National Defense Council adopted a new command plan for waging war against guerrilla troops, who are striving to set up a separate Communist state in the north.

Ventiris, former chief of staff, was given 40 days' leave. Maj. Gen. Stylianos Kitrilakis was appointed deputy chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Demetrios Yadzis and was ordered to work out new command plans. All military units will come directly under the general staff. Previously field commanders like Ventiris had certain autonomy.

Two new commands were created by the council. Maj. Gen. Constantine Mandas heads the Peloponnesus command, with Maj. Gen. Tsingounis chief in Thrace and eastern Macedonia.

The decisions were taken at a three-hour meeting of the council, attended by United States Maj. Gen. William G. Livesay and British Gen. S. B. Rawlins. Livesay is head of the military part of the American aid program.

All questions regarding the prosecution of warfare against the guerrillas were not settled at the meeting.

Ventiris had offered his resignation as commander two months ago, but it was not accepted. He had expressed dissatisfaction privately with continued criticism of his command, chiefly by the Liberal party press.

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis had strongly opposed Ventiris's resignation at the time, but later changed his mind. The Premier wanted Ventiris removed and some senior officers favorable to the Liberal party given commands. This met with opposition from both the British and Americans, who said politics had no place in the Greek Army.

THE MESSAGE OF THE SEVEN CANDLES
Will Be Given Sunday Morning at 9 and Repeated at 10:30 at the TRUTH CENTER CHURCH

By the Rev. EMIL CLIFFORD HARTMANN
The Official Tom Breneman "BREAKFAST IN HOLLYWOOD" will be given at The Truth Center Church on Thursday night, February 12, at 8 P. M. Details will be found in the Church Program.
SERMONETTE
All of us should form the habit of praying for the entire world and the success of the UNITED NATIONS. Nearly everybody in the world admits the value of prayer for himself, but not very many people take the time each day to pray for others, especially for the entire world. This is a tragedy, because PRAYER COULD BE THE MIGHTIEST POWER FOR GOOD in the WHOLE WORLD. The entire Christian world must rise to a higher spiritual level of thinking, feeling, acting, living and working or we shall destroy one another with atomic energy. Nothing will lift the thoughts of men to higher levels, like suggested by Psalms 121, like UNSELFISH PRAYERS for all the world. The SEVEN CANDLES will teach you how to catch up spiritually with the Atomic Age. Prayer is visiting with God. No one can visit with God without coming out of prayer divinely blessed. Many pretend to pray, but no one really prays until he becomes absent from himself and present with the Lord. Good people often criticize the Leaders of Nations, but seldom pray for them. All have indulged in harsh prejudices of other nations and races and creeds and have been calling that patriotism and religion. We must train ourselves to transform harsh criticisms into prayer and see to it that we keep all warfare out of our hearts. Many persons are bloody feeling "war toward others" in their hearts. They hate, become spiteful and revengeful toward others. They only hurt themselves in the long run. Let all of us mentally, emotionally and outwardly learn to bless them who curse us and pray for those who are spiteful toward us and do us evil. You are not a follower of Jesus Christ unless you do love your enemies. Let none of us engage in battles with words. Criticism condemns people for what they did yesterday and so chains them to the past. Let us not judge each other by what we may have done in the past, but let us pray for each other that we shall do better in the future. Prayer enables us to grow more God-like. JESUS ING KILLS; PRAYER IS WHAT GIVES ONE THE NEW LIFE MORE ABUNDANT ASSOCIATED BY JESUS CHRIST.

STATE PENSION AID IN FULL FOR FIRST TIME SINCE JUNE

By HERBERT A. TRASK
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31—February old-age pension checks, covering the full amount of aid for the first time since last June, will be mailed tonight to the state's 115,800 recipients, State Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter announced today.

The checks will average $36.14, an increase of $3.52 over the average January payments.

A 10 per cent cut in pensions was made by the Welfare Division last July because the Legislature failed to appropriate sufficient funds for the program. Shortly after it reconvened this month, the General Assembly directed that the cuts be restored for the remainder of the fiscal year, ending June 30. It ordered also that the restorations be made retroactive to last November.

Supplemental checks covering the November, December and January restorations, averaging about $10, will be mailed with the regular checks tonight.

The Legislature authorized also the restoration of a 33 1-3 per cent cut in payments for dependent children. The increased child aid checks will be mailed Feb. 10.

A pending appropriation bill provides supplemental allotments of $1,100,000 for pensions and $1,034,000 for dependent children for the current fiscal year, to finance the payment of full amounts recommended by the county welfare offices. The bill was passed by the House this week and sent to the Senate.

Only $150,000 is provided in the bill to supplement inadequate direct relief funds. The amount is far short of the sum necessary to make relief payments in full.

EX-G.I. WHO JOINED KASHMIR FIGHTING RETURNS TO U.S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—A former United States Army sergeant who became a brigadier general in the fighting in Kashmir said yesterday he believed the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi might cause full-scale war in India.

Haight, who joined the "Free Kashmir" forces after serving as a highway engineer in Afghanistan, came home to prevent loss of his citizenship. His wife, Doris, and 15-month-old daughter, Susan, live in Denver.

Informed of the assassination, Haight said "the Hindus may blame it on the Moslems and that might start a full-scale war. They are just waiting to take over Pakistan." He said he believed the United States should keep hands off, commenting "they are trigger happy so we ought to let them alone."

The one-time sergeant said he entered the fighting "for the hell of it." Asked if he was concerned with the issues, he replied "I couldn't care less."

TAVERN OPERATOR SLUGGED, ROBBED OF $2500 JEWELRY AT CARSONVILLE

Joseph Cusamano, co-owner of a tavern at 8503 Natural Bridge road, Carsonville, was slugged by one of two masked men and robbed of $2500 cash and jewelry valued at $1600 when he parked his automobile behind the tavern last night.

Cusamano was returning from the Normandy State Bank, 7301 Natural Bridge road, where he had drawn the money preparatory to cashing pay checks of customers today. He stepped out of his machine in a parking space behind the tavern and one robber hit him on the head with a blunt instrument, knocking him down. While he lay in the snow, the robbers took the money from his pockets, removed his $1500 diamond ring and a $100 wrist watch, and departed.

Dazed by the blow, Cusamano was unable to get up immediately, but called for help. His cries were heard by persons in the tavern, who came to his assistance. Cusamano told deputies the robbers did not display revolvers.

$881 From Market Man.

Albert W. Solin, partner in the North Side Super Market, 1900 Benton street, reported to police he was held up by two Negroes and robbed of $881 as he was leaving a parking lot at the Northwestern National Bank of St. Louis, 1500 St. Louis avenue, at 6 o'clock last night.

Solin said he drew $728 in currency and silver at the bank, placed the money in a bag in his machine and was driving out of the parking lot into an alley when the Negroes halted him. One robber, wearing an Army overcoat and cap, carried a revolver while the second was armed with a knife, Solin related. They forced him to get out of the car, took the bag of money and his wallet, which contained $153, and fled. Solin drove to his store and called police.

Three employes of a branch store of Union-May-Stern Co., at 4101 Manchester avenue, were held up last night by a well-dressed man wearing gold-rimmed eyeglasses, who fled with $400.

The man approached Mrs. Lillian Kerner, cashier, and said he wanted to pay the account of a friend. When Mrs. Kerner began looking up the bill the robber thrust one hand in a pocket of his brown overcoat and told her, "this is a holdup, stand where you are and you won't get hurt." He ordered two salesmen, Norbert Grosnier and Albert Betz, into a washroom then took the money from the cash drawer and pushed Mrs. Kerner into the washroom. The robber departed after instructing the employes to remain in the washroom 30 minutes before calling police. They waited until certain he had gone before telephoning a report of the holdup.

Shoots at Robber.

Craig said the robber carried a revolver and, after taking the money, marched him across a vacant lot behind the station. Craig suddenly dashed back to the station, grabbed his pistol and fired at the robber, who ran down an alley. The shots apparently went wild.

Mrs. Mabel Rogers, a Negro, reported she was robbed last night of $40, a watch valued at $150 and a $125 ring by a Negro who forced her into an alley near her home, 1110 Bayard avenue.

9 HURT WHEN BUS UPSETS AFTER STRIKING OIL TRUCK

EFFINGHAM, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP) —A Greyhound bus and a semi-trailer oil truck collided two miles east of Effingham on United States Route 40 today, injuring at least nine persons.

State Policeman Tornie Womack, Vandalia, said the bus attempted to pass the truck, the vehicles collided, and the bus overturned in a field. The bus was damaged badly. The bus was bound for St. Louis and its next scheduled stop was an Effingham depot. None of the injured was from Illinois or Missouri.

The bus driver, Frederick M. Burns, 35 years old, of Franklin, Ind., was released after treatment. The truck driver, Joseph Tegler of Effingham, was unhurt. Neither driver was held, Womack said.

PORTER KILLS EMPLOYER; IRKED BY 'NO-TIP' ERRAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (UP) — Police held Joseph Donahue, a 57-year-old porter, today for fatally stabbing his boss, Herman Seeger, when Seeger tried to send him on an errand "where they don't give you a nickel tip."

Donahue walked into police headquarters yesterday and said: "I just stabbed a man. . . . I hope he isn't dead." Seeger, Donahue's boss at the Hanover sandwich shop, was found dead.

Orville Wright, Co-Inventor and First Flyer of Power Plane, Dies in Sleep

Uses in Peace His Chief Interest—Tests at Kitty Hawk Now Are 44 Years Old.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31 (AP) — Orville Wright died last night 44 years after he put wings on the world with the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

The 76-year-old co-inventor of the airplane died in his sleep under an oxygen tent at Miami Valley hospital at 10:40 p.m.

Dr. A. B. Brower, his physician, said Wright succumbed to a lung congestion and coronary arteriosclerosis, a heart disease.

The world's pioneer aviator entered the hospital last Tuesday after suffering his second heart attack of recent months. He recovered rapidly from a first attack Oct. 10, 1947.

The aged scientist took a turn for the worse Wednesday night when a lung congested, held stanchly for a few hours early yesterday and then sank slowly into a coma that preceded death.

Condolences From Wright Field.

One of the first to send messages of condolence was Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commanding general of the air materiel command at nearby Wright Field.

"Our great hope," said Gen. McNarney, "is that through the gift he gave the nation, America will be empowered to maintain world peace."

Without Orville Wright's cloth, glue and wood contraption and his 12-second flight over the sands of Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903, there would be no air force, but the inventor himself readily admitted he never had envisioned his airplane as the world's big military weapon.

"Quite obviously," he remarked once, "Wilbur (his late brother and co-inventor) and I could not foresee what awful use could be made of the airplane. But it is, and will be, of tremendous importance in peace."

Interest in Peaceful Uses.

While he aided American military might by conferring with Wright Field engineers on many Air Force projects, Wright turned to peaceful uses of the airplane with more interest. He lived in close retirement most of his years.

Wright was noted for his wit but it never betrayed his deep-rooted modesty. "You fellows have a lot of nerve," he told two flyers who recently completed an around-the-world flight in tiny planes not much bigger than the contraption into which Wright climbed in 1903 at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

There was the notable occasion when he remarked, about his usual refusal to talk at gatherings:

Only one of the five who participated in the Kitty Hawk flights is alive. He is John T. Daniels, one of three Coast Guardsmen who helped the Wrights. Daniels entered the Norfolk (Va.) naval hospital yesterday, a few hours before Orville Wright died.

Daniels and Willie S. Dough of Manteo ran with the plane on those first flights, holding down each wing as it moved along a mono-rail take-off track. Dough and Adam Estridge, the other Coast Guardsmen, died several years ago.

Wright's nearest relatives at his death were nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2:30 p.m., in the First Baptist Church here, of which Wright was a member. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery, beside the body of his brother, Wilbur.

Orville Wright attended the International Pulitzer Trophy races at Lambert Field in 1923 and visited St. Louis for an aeronautics meeting six years later.

At the races, he told a Post-Dispatch reporter there was not sufficient civilian confidence in aviation. He declared that an airplane flying at a speed of 100 miles an hour was safer than an automobile traveling 50 miles an hour. The future of the airplane, he said, lay in the field of speedy transportation over great distances.

While attending the aeronautics meeting here on May 29, 1929, he said in an interview that it would be necessary to overcome fog and ice formation on planes before regular transoceanic air travel could be established.

He regarded it, however, as only a matter of time before such flights would be commonplace.

lived to see that feat become a commonplace.

He was the first man to fly in a motor-driven, heavier-than-air machine, soaring above the sand dunes at Kitty Hawk, N. C., for 12 tense seconds on Dec. 17, 1903. From the powered kite in which he made history on Kill Devil Hill that day there grew a giant that shrank the world in time and distance and played a potent part in deciding the destiny of nations in World War II.

Yet it all started from a toy.

Orville and Wilbur Wright, co-inventors of the modern airplane, were the sons of Bishop Milton Wright of the United Brethern Church in Dayton, and ministerial careers were mapped out for them. But one evening in 1878 their father brought them a novel toy, a "flying spinner" consisting of a frame of cork and bamboo, covered with paper and forming two screws which were driven in opposite directions by rubber bands.

First Flight 120 Feet.

That whirling device fired their imaginations. Through boyhood they toyed with the idea that man could fly. Thoughts of the ministry faded. They opened a bicycle shop and the boyhood dreams returned.

They repeated the flying experiments of those who had preceded them and failed. Then they discarded these theories, built themselves a wind tunnel and wrested laws of aero-dynamics from crude frameworks of wood and metal.

Out of years of experimenting came an airplane. At Kitty Hawk, Orville Wright took his place in a flimsy looking, box-kite affair of wood, wire and cloth. A sputtering motor spun two crude propellers.

Wilbur steadied the machine as it moved down a mono-rail track and then for 12 seconds Orville skimmed the dunes traveling 120 feet in the first sustained human flight in a power-propelled, heavier-than-air device.

Four flights were made that day. Orville made the first. Then he and Wilbur alternated in the others. On one of the attempts Wilbur stayed up 59 seconds and swooped 852 feet across the dunes. The only witnesses were five persons—Coast Guardsmen and curious villagers.

"That flight convinced us," Orville Wright said later, "that our theories were sound. We could control the craft, even if it was largely by shifting the weight of our bodies from one side to the other."

Thus it was that man took to the air as the result of the efforts of two brothers who ran a bicycle shop.

Forty years after his first flight Orville Wright piloted the world's then newest and biggest transport plane over Wright Field at Dayton, O., for a brief part of a 50-minute flight, his first spell at piloting in 25 years and the first time he had been aloft in five. The experience, he said, was "wonderful" and he "enjoyed every minute of it."

"I guess I ran the whole plane for a minute but I let the machine take care of itself," he added. "I always said airplanes would fly themselves if you let them alone."

In 1943, on the fortieth anniversary of the first flight, several hundred notables gathered in Washington to commemorate the event. President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent a message paying tribute to the Wright brothers.

"Orville and Wilbur Wright did not labor and toil to create an instrument of war," his message said. "Knowing them as I do, I know their inspiration was not a destructive weapon. The impelling force which drove them on to ultimate success was to make a contribution to the progress of man."

Pilot in First Air Fatality.

First to fly, Orville was pilot too in the world's first fatal airplane wreck. A propeller blade shattered as he and Army Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge were flying above Fort Myer, Va., in September 1908. Selfridge was killed as the plane crashed and Orville suffered a broken leg and internal injuries.

Nearly a year elapsed before he returned to carry on the trials again. On July 30, 1909, he made the official government speed test.

Wilbur Wright was in France in 1908 getting patent rights and contracts from the French government. When he returned the brothers began manufacturing aircraft commercially founding the Wright company.

Orville continued his experimental work, perfecting an automatic stabilizer that found general use in aircraft and striving constantly to improve airplane engines. He sold his stock in the original Wright company and stepped out of the commercial picture except as a consulting engineer in 1915.

Married to His Airplane.

Born August 19, 1871, at Dayton, Orville Wright was four years younger than Wilbur. He never married. "Don't you need a wife?" he was asked on one occasion. In reply he pointed to his airplane. "You can't support both," he said.

His formal education ended in 1890 with high school. Subsequently honorary degrees were bestowed on him by various colleges and universities, and he received also numerous awards from organizations at home and abroad for his aviation work.

Orville neither smoked nor drank. He was shy to the point of taciturnity except among close friends. After the death of Wilbur in 1912 from typhoid fever he retired still further, clinging to his laboratories and workshops in Dayton.

Orville thereafter rarely appeared in public and still more rarely spoke for publication, but he maintained a daily schedule of clock-like regularity between his Dayton home and laboratory.

Except in an infrequent reference to "one of my projects," the public seldom heard of his laboratory work. Equally unpublicized was his close interest in areonautical engineering at at Wright Field, Army Air Forces base just outside Dayton. He was called in for consultation when engineers at the field struck a particularly knotty problem.

CITY DEADLINE ON AUTO STICKERS EXTENDED A DAY

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

The deadline for the purchase of city auto license stickers before police begin arresting motorists without them was extended today by License Collector Frank A. Britton until Tuesday morning. Previously, Britton had requested the police to begin arrests on Monday.

The extension was granted because an unprecedented last-minute rush of applicants filed through City Hall today to obtain stickers. About 9000 of the 10,000 persons who bought stickers today had to clear through the office of Collector of Revenue Richard E. Gruner to obtain evidence they owed no personal taxes for 1947. Such evidence is required before auto license stickers may be issued.

The large number of persons needing such proof overcrowded the collector's office to such an extent that Britton decided to extent the deadline another day, he said. Both his office and the collector's office handled all applicants who got in line by 1 p.m., instead of observing the usual Saturday noon closing time. them were taken care of promptly.

The city deadline had one unexpected effect in a county suburb. Webster Groves Collector N. E. Blaske said his office was swamped with applicants who apparently believed the deadline there also was today. The deadline in Webster Groves actually is Feb. 14.

EMIL J. VESCOVO, OWNER OF RESTAURANTS, BARS, DIES

Emil J. Vescovo, owner of restaurants and taverns in St. Louis for more than 40 years, died today at Jewish Hospital. He was 63 years old and had been in ill health since suffering a stroke in 1941. He lived at 7158 Cambridge avenue, University City.

He came to St. Louis from Italy, and was employed at the World's Fair here shortly after arriving. In 1906 he opened a tavern and restaurant at Vandeventer avenue and Olive street, moving later to Grand boulevard and Olive. In 1922 he opened a restaurant at Big Bend boulevard and the University streetcar tracks. The restaurant, which burned in 1939, was a popular meeting place for Washington University students. His present restaurant and tavern, at Skinker and Delmar boulevards, was opened in 1941.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Enrico and Emil Vescovo Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Yola Thames. The children were associated with the elder Vescovo in the operation of his present business. The body was taken to the Alexander undertaking establishment, 6175 Delmar.

ALL DRUNKEN DRIVING ILLEGAL

ST. PAUL, Jan. 31 (UP)—The State Supreme Court ruled yesterday it's just as illegal to drive on a private road while drunk as on a public highway.

The court upheld municipal and district courts in a test case brought by Robert F. Carroll, Fergus Falls, Minn. He said that a sentence given him for drunken driving on a private road was improper and that the law should apply only to public highways.

'DRED SCOTT DAYS PAST,' JUDGE FREES PAROLE VIOLATOR

East St. Louis City Judge Joseph Troy, commenting "We have passed the days of Dred Scott," yesterday freed Clarence (Baby) Johnson, Negro, now living in East St. Louis, who was wanted in Little Rock, Ark., on a parole violation.

Johnson, who was described by Little Rock Prosecuting Attorney Edwin Dunaway as "the kingpin of the policy game in Little Rock," was arrested here last Jan. 12 at the request of Arkansas authorities, who reported he had fled from the state last September after having been found guilty of operating a policy game. The Little Rock authorities said he had violated a parole granted in 1943 after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property.

Judge Troy granted Johnson a writ of habeas corpus, finding that the court order granting his probation did not specify the length of time it would be in effect. "It jeopardizes his civil rights," he said, "to have a perpetual threat of revocation perpetually hanging over his head." Dunaway, who came here to argue against the writ, contended the order had been made out properly under Arkansas law.

CAB AND SERVICE CAR MEN OBJECT TO LIABILITY BILL

Measure Taken Under Advisement After Hearing by Committee of Aldermen.

A bill providing stricter regulation of taxicabs and service cars, requiring that liability insurance be posted with the Board of Public Service and requiring that meters be installed in all taxicabs was under advisement today after a public hearing before the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Opposition to the measure was expressed at the hearing yesterday by the operators of almost every major taxicab and service car company in the city. All protested that it was virtually impossible for taxicab operators to obtain public liability insurance.

Attorneys for the Black and White cab firm, which operates 200 cabs, and the Ace cab company, operator of 75 cabs, said that both firms found it necessary to form their own insurance companies in order to obtain the insurance demanded by the present ordinance.

The present ordinance permits either insurance or the posting of bonds in amounts ranging from $2500 to $10,000, depending on the number of cabs operated, to assure the payment of damage suit judgments. The proposed ordinance would require liability insurance of $10,000 and $20,000.

William G. Brown, general manager of the Mound City Cab Co., operator of the 175 Yellow cabs in the city, told the committee that no reliable liability insurance was obtainable by cab companies. He said he thought the posting of the bond, as at present, assured the public of protection.

William James, manager of the Ace company, and John T. Murphy Jr., attorney for the Laclede Cab Co., which operates 75 cabs, related their firms had been insured during the past year by mutual insurance companies which failed. In each instance the cab firms had to pay off the judgments in addition to having paid the premiums, they said.

Like objections to the measure were presented by operators of the various Negro cab companies who protested also that the provision requiring meters would drive the Negro operators, now using the zone system, out of business. All firms also protested against the proposed increase in the present license fee from $15 to $150 a year for each cab.

which was unlocked, so I swung the door open," Miss Rose related. "Meanwhile he scooped up money from cash drawers, and $3843 in payroll money, which I had been counting. While doing that he remarked: 'This is a hell of a way to make a living.'"

While the holdup was in progress Miss Margaretta Collins, 3666 College avenue, an office employe, came up the stairs. hand over her mouth and shoved her into the office with the other women. The short robber then herded the five employes into a washroom and shut the door.

Carrying the money in the satchel, the robbers walked downstairs and through the store, where customers and sales employes were unaware there had been a holdup. The men went out a street door, and were lost in the crowd on Grand boulevard.

Both robbers wore topcoats and the short man was described as needing a shave. The employes held up were taken to police headquarters to view Bertillon pictures of suspects.

Employes in the offices, besides Miss Rose, who lives at 4533 Laclede avenue, and Miss Collins, were Miss Bonnie Povard, 2441 North Grand boulevard; Miss Ruth Brake, 5143 Shaw boulevard, and Miss Viola Collins, sister of Margaretta Collins.

41 BELOW NEAR WARREN, PA.; WOMAN COULD SKATE IN HOUSE

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 31 (UP)—An oil lease worker and his wife living in a valley five miles south of here awoke at dawn today and read 41 degrees below zero on their thermometer.

The couple, Arch Blowers, 66 years old, and Cora, 58, found the walls of their two-story brick insulated home covered with frost even though they left gas stoves burning in each room.

"Every wall and the first-floor floors were covered with a heavy frost," Mrs. Blowers said. "If I were the athletic type I could ice skate any place in the house."

She said that when her husband left the house to make his rounds of the oil wells under his care he was dressed in heavy underwear, trousers, two flannel hunting shirts, a pea jacket and a heavy wool hunting coat. The Weather Bureau in Pittsburgh said the 41 degrees below registered on the couple's thermometer was lower than any official reading on record for the area.

Union of U.S., Britain and West Europe 'Best Hope for Peace'

DR. HAROLD C. UREY

A strong federal union of the United States, western Europe and the British Commonwealth now is the world's best hope for peace, Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winning professor of chemistry at the University of Chicago and an atomic bomb scientist, said here last night.

Dr. Urey, whose remarks were punctuated by bursts of applause from his intent audience of more than 1500 persons, spoke at Soldan High School at a free meeting sponsored by the St. Louis Citizens Committee for Atomic Energy Information. Many of the persons in the crowd were high school and college students.

Analyzing with the cool precision of a scientist the possible courses of action which now are available to the United States, he outlined the reasoning which led him to the conclusion that peace plans cannot succeed if they involve solely control of atomic bombs or other weapons, an aggressive war against Russia, or financial aid to Europe.

Another world war would be the worst thing that could happen, he said.

War 'Biggest Problem.'

"Modern war is the biggest problem the human race has had placed before it in all history," he declared. "If the citizens of the United States were realistic, they would realize that the world could recover from the effects of Communism faster than from the destruction of a third world war. My aim, therefore, is to preserve peace, to prevent another war."

He added with dry humor, "If the citizens of Russia were realistic, they would realize the world could recover faster from the effects of capitalism than from a third world war."

Controlling atomic bombs or giving financial aid to Europe, while they might help, will never bring peace because we would be only "chasing the sparks of the conflagration," he said, not providing a just means to settle the basic cause of war, which he termed "the quarrelsome nature of homo sapiens."

Peace has been achieved in limited areas for limited periods of time by such federal unions as the union of the 13 colonies in America in 1787 and the union of England and Scotland, he continued. The reason why those unions were successful, he said, was that they established a government over and above the separate, all-powerful sovereign states, assuring justice for individual citizens by orderly processes of law.

"If we were to attempt to gain permanent peace by attacking Russia to overthrow its totalitarian dictatorship, we would only make the Russian citizens mad. An atomic bomb dropped on a city destroys more than the few people for whom it may be intended. That is not justice, that is no basis for peace."

Discussing the Acheson-Lilienthal-Baruch plan for the control of atomic energy, which has been stalemated in the United Nations by Russian intransigence, he said that it could not work under the present United Nations organization.

"Under the plan, if a citizen of the United States were to steal a kilogram of uranium," he observed, "the rest of the world would think the United States was going to make atomic bombs. Without a court, how would we prove that he just wanted the uranium as a soucenir?" The short, stout, gray-haired scientist nodded his head for emphasis, and the audience laughed.

A world government, theoretically, would be the best way to assure justice and bring peace, he continued, but a complete world government, now is impossible. Russia, he said, would not join because of its fear of the western democracies. The United States would not join with Russia, he declared, because "no one sees how we can make a reasonable approximation to a free democracy fit into their scheme of totalitarian dictatorship."

Limited World Government.

He proposed, consequently, a limited world government, composed of the countries which might be willing to join.

"A union of the western democracies would result in a great unbalance of power," he said. "We could call the shots. Russia, I believe, would not attack us because we would be too strong. There would be no need for us to attack Russia."

If the western states do not form a union, he foresaw the possibility that Russia, "which seems to be swallowing the states on its periphery," would have the unbalance of power and could "call the shots."

Emphasizing the need for urgency, Dr. Urey who is vice-chairman of the Emergency Committee of the Atomic Scientists, said next year will be the last of our certain monopoly of the atomic bomb.

"People say," he concluded, "'You can't do this, you can't achieve this federal union until Mars threatens us.' Mars is threatening us. Casting our lots with the other peoples of the earth in an effort to secure law, order and justice may be one of the greatest blessings the human race has experienced."

GIRL WITH POLIO WINS RADIO PRIZE AFTER HER DEATH

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 31 (UP) — Seventeen-year-old Phyllis Moyer of Tunkhannock won a grand prize in a radio program—but it came three days too late. Phyllis died of a heart attack last Tuesday, ending her 79-day fight against infantile paralysis.

The announcement that Phyllis was the winner of the grand prize in the Hollywood radio program "Heart's Desire" was received here yesterday. A school friend had written to the program officials, telling how Phyllis needed clothing for travel because of a planned trip to a sanitarium.

ROBBERS, OUT-ARGUED, FIND SAFE IS OPEN, GET $150

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Raymond Pozulp, 26 years old, manager of the Cherry meat Packers, insisted to two robbers that he did not know the combination of the safe. They argued as four other employes listened.

Apparently convinced Pozulp did not know the combination, the two started to leave. One gunman stopped and yanked at the safe door. It was unlocked. The gunmen took $1500, police said Pozulp reported yesterday.

Boy, 4, Wounded Playing With Gun

James Vergas, 4 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vergas, suffered a gunshot wound in the left hand yesterday when a .22 caliber rifle with which he was playing in a closet at his home, 1044B Marion street, was discharged. He was taken to City Hospital.

LAWYER'S ERROR: ASKS FOR RISE IN CLIENT'S $15 FINE

'Let's Make It $25,' He Says, Thinking Judge Said $50, Whereas He Made It $15.

William Levi, an attorney, who asked a police court judge to increase a fine against his client charged with leaving the scene of an accident, said today he had misunderstood the fine imposed by the court.

Levi represented Cecil B. Forbuck, 5084 Page boulevard, in Police Judge George J. Grellner's court yesterday. The judge assessed a fine of $15 when Forbuck pleaded guilty. Levi then said, "We've made a deal. The prosecuting witness doesn't want to prosecute my client for careless driving, so let's make it $25."

"I am confident the judge said $50," Levi said today. "That is why I asked the court to cut the fine in half."

MAN WHOSE AUTO BORE BLOOD FREE WITHOUT CHARGE

Had Been Arrested in Death of Webster Groves Man After Report by Mechanic.

Donald H. Clark, president of the Commerce Publishing Co., 408 Olive street, was released yesterday without bond and without charges being placed against him, after being arrested earlier in the day in connection with the automobile death last Wednesday of Charles D. O'Connor of Webster Groves. Clark was arrested after a mechanic discovered bits of blood, hair, cloth and what appeared to be human flesh on the chassis of Clark's automobile.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Lester Watson at Clayton ordered Clark's release by Webster Groves police. He said he did so because a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the case, and because witnesses at the inquest gave conflicting testimony. He said he would make certain the case was presented to the next St. Louis county grand jury.

Chief of Police Andrew McDonnell of Webster Groves announced today that bits of the material found on the chassis of Clark's automobile had been sent to the St. Louis police department laboratory for tests to determine whether they were of human origin.

O'Connor, an executive of the International Harvester Co., was killed when his automobile sideswiped another machine going in the same direction in the 7600 block of Big Bend road. O'Connor was thrown from his machine, and Paul Brackman, 7608 Big Bend, said he saw a third automobile run over the prostrate man. Two other witnesses at the inquest said they did not note a third car.

Clark, who lives at the Lennox Hotel, was arrested by St. Louis detectives. He told detectives he had been near the scene of the accident at the hour it occurred, but said he had not run over anyone. He added, however, that he thought he struck some snow, ice or possibly a dog at about the scene of the accident.

His arrest came after he had driven his automobile to the Trevellyan Buick Co., Inc., 3901 Laclede avenue, Thursday, to have it washed and lubricated.

THEFT OF $162, CIGARETTES, HAM FROM STORE REPORTED

The theft of $162, 15 cartons of cigarettes and 15 pounds of minced ham by burglars who last night forced a rear door of the Maryland Pastry Shop, 369 North Boyle, was reported to police today by the owner, Lessie Darden, 4105 Camellia avenue.

Burglars broke into the home of John T. Wiley Jr., 6633 Mardel avenue, last night in the family's absence, police said, and fled with $245 and an automatic pistol. Glass in a rear door was broken to gain entry.

Chases Woman, Kills Another.

Mrs. Bertha Downing, a Negro, was shot and killed in her home at 1234 Euclid avenue yesterday when Leroy Williams, a Negro, was threatening a woman friend of his, who lives with Mrs. Downing, with a revolver. Williams chased Miss Emma Boozer, also a Negro, through the house and into the kitchen where Mrs. Downing was sitting. He fled after the shooting and was arrested later.

Pertinent to Milk Prices

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Several pertinent facts about the present price of milk have never been publicly discussed, either by the newspapers or the milk investigating committee.

First: Just how much of a factor is daily delivery? Very few large cities have it. Certainly it adds to the cost of milk. How about a comparison of the St. Louis milk prices with other cities with the same method of delivery?

Second: The local health ordinance requires that all unsold milk returned to the dairies be dumped. How much does this add to the cost of milk? Visit the dump room at Pevely Dairy any afternoon and see thousands of quarts of milk get dumped. (Arthur F. Kerckhoff, Pevely president, has stated that returned milk is converted to ice cream, butter and powdered milk.—Editor's note.)

Third: How does the labor cost in St. Louis compare with that of other major cities? This is an important factor. At Pevely's Springfield dairy, for example, a route man makes about $35 weekly, compared with $60-$70 weekly in St. Louis. Certainly the milk in Springfield should be cheaper.

Out of consideration for the thousands of men and women in the St. Louis area who depend on milk for a living these facts deserve to be discussed. Price increases on other products affecting our cost of living (coal, fuel oil, gasoline, shoes, food, clothing) have been so terrific, certainly the whole story should be told about milk.

Against a Minimum Speed Law

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am a veteran highway driver, and I operate a truck. Contrary to your editorial proposing "A Minimum Speed Law," there is no minimum or maximum to a sensible speed law. Safe, sane, experienced and able drivers who pay heed to signals and signs on the highway, and who take care in the judgment of distance, are the only guarantee of safety on the highway.

ROBERT L. JONES.

He Remembers F. D. R.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

President Roosevelt's birthday recalled the influence this one man's life has had upon the trend of thought in this country.

Many phases of Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal when proposed by him a decade ago were viewed with alarm by Republicans as the first step toward a Socialist state. His social security program was interpreted as the end of man's existence as an individual and the beginning of his indentification by numbers. His fight to establish a 40-cent minimum wage was called a scheme to destroy small business and bankrupt the South.

But now, three short years after his death we find the Republicans advocating a broadening of the Social Security Act. We find these same Republicans actually in favor of raising the minimum wage to 65 cents.

This great man, whose thinking was so far in advance of his time, did not live in vain. THANKFUL.

The City's Tie-In Sale

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

During the latter years of the war and immediately after its closing, tie-in sales were outlawed by the OPA. Persons found violating the OPA's edict were promptly fined or their licenses suspended.

Why, then, is our city government allowed to put into practice just such a tie-in sale? I am referring to the fact that it will not issue a city automobile license without a personal property tax receipt. WILLIAM E. TRAMPIER.

A Fountain-Lover

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Post-Dispatch photograph of an ice-encrusted fountain with a background of evergreen trees, taken in Compton Hill Reservoir Park, brings back to me an idea I had when we laid out and built the little sunken garden and pools in the park many years ago. This idea was to use water from fountains at the top of a hill for additional fountains below, as was done in Rome and many other cities thousands of years ago.

It has always seemed to me when the water has been shut off at the Milles fountain in front of the Union Station that there was something missing, that the fountain was incomplete or just being constructed and was not finished; for one does not get the beautiful and artistic picture presented when the fountains are playing. Also, at night I have walked up the magnificent ramp at the station and missed the wonderful picture presented by the colored lights when they are reflected in the pool and seen through the mist and spray.

WILLIAM HENRY GRUEN.

Peace Through Understanding

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What a difference to hear something about the Russians other than the sayings of Stalin and Molotov. What they say is of interest and importance to us, but we certainly can't judge all the Russian people by them.

John Steinbeck has certainly done the American people a great service and we owe him our thanks. It's through works like his that we will come to have a better understanding of the Russian people and thus maintain peace between us. (Installments of John Steinbeck's new book, "A Russian Journal," are being published in the Post-Dispatch.—Editor's note.) CARL A. BADE.

A Brazen Performance

Whoever else is elected or defeated in the St. Louis area this year, Louis P. Zerweck of Belleville should be swept from office in a cyclone of adverse votes.

Zerweck holds the post of State's Attorney of St. Clair County. If he is State's Attorney at all, it is in name only. To be State's Attorney, he would have to be the people's attorney. The one thing he most certainly is not and never has been is the attorney for the people.

Who then does Louis P. Zerweck represent when he goes to court if it is not the citizens of St. Clair County who pay him an annual salary to prosecute their cases?

Let the answer to that question come from the sordid record of grand jury frustrations at the hands of Zerweck in the indictments of East St. Louis officials who were not once but repeatedly charged with malfeasance in office.

A civic-minded grand jury decided to do all in its power to rehabilitate the name of East St. Louis. Fed up to the teeth with the open gambling and all that went with it, including the harboring of underworld characters, this jury indicted Mayor Connors and four Commissioners. It was the duty of Zerweck to advise and otherwise help this grand jury.

Zerweck and his staff insisted on a joint indictment. The grand jury was independently advised that a joint indictment would not stand the test in court. So it voted individual indictments as well. What did Zerweck do? As soon as the indictments were in his charge, he caused the dismissal of the individual indictments.

That left only the weak joint indictment. When it was attacked by defenders of Mayor Connors and the Commissioners, it was found to be lacking even certain necessary statutory language. Circuit Judge Bareis had no choice but to dismiss the defective, inadequate indictment.

Then a second grand jury moved up to take the place of the first. It voted new indictments against the city officials. It even indicted Zerweck and two of his assistants, R. V. Gustin and Fred J. Bier. By doing so, it required the appointment of a special prosecutor of Zerweck and his aides.

The East St. Louis city election came along and the machine threw everything it had into a last ditch fight to stay in office. Money flowed like water and there were irregularities in precinct after precinct. Even so, on the face of returns, the Mayor won by only a few votes. One machine Commissioner was defeated outright and another who was declared defeated, is hanging onto his seat through a legalism while a contest is fought out.

That brings us down to this last week and Zerweck's latest maneuvers. On learning that the Illinois appellate court had sustained Judge Bareis' dismissal of the defective joint indictment, Zerweck rushed into the court of Circuit Judge Maxwell and moved for the quashing of the individual indictments returned by the second grand jury.

This cleaned out all the indictments against East St. Louis and county officials except those against Zerweck, Gustin and Bier. The very next day the special prosecutor, R. Emmett Costello, members of whose law firm represent the East St. Louis School Board, asked Judge Maxwell to dismiss these indictments. So the indictments are all rubbed out and rubbed out on motion of those who are supposed to represent the people of St. Clair county!

Had Zerweck been the least concerned in representing the people he would have made the most of the second set of individual indictments, which were a vast improvement over the first ones. The speed with which he dashed to court to get these dismissed showed where his interests lay. He took it upon himself to decide that an appellate court ruling on the joint indictment covered the individual indictments as well. He constituted himself judge and jury over the second set of individual indictments and prevented them from going to trial just as he killed the first set of individual indictments. He has undone the work of two grand juries which were determined to bring the East St. Louis City Hall machine to book in open court.

What can the people of East St. Louis and St. Clair County do now? They can do at least these four things:

1. They can insist that the election contest cases in East St. Louis be pushed and that Richard T. Carter and any others who can be proved to have been elected, are given their seats in the East St. Louis Council.

2. They can demand action by still another grand jury. If a second grand jury could follow the first, a third can follow the second. The conduct of Zerweck in moving to dismiss indictments right and left should be thoroughly investigated.

3. They can put the Zerweck record in all its details before the Illinois State Bar Association and find out whether the professional organization of the Illinois bar is satisfied with it.

4. They can throw Zerweck out of office. He is a candidate to succeed himself in the April primary. That brazen bid for another four years should arouse St. Clair county to fever heat in the weeks to come.

No people, however lax in the past, should suffer a fifth term with this bird as their spokesman in court.

Toward a Solution for St Louis

Instead of an automatic sharing of state income taxes with local governments, which has been proposed by Mayor Kaufmann and the Missouri Municipal League, members of the House Committee on Taxation are developing a superior substitute.

Their bill would reduce state income taxes one half and permit local governments to levy an equal amount. This would take relief to the cities out of the "handout" class and hold local governments responsible for levying their own taxes.

The bill also shows understanding for the special situation of St. Louis and Kansas City. Both cities have large suburban populations that now escape city taxes, even though they earn their living in the city. The bill would give the two cities a choice between a regular graduated income tax and a flat tax of not more than 1 per cent on all money earned in the city.

It is just and desirable to tax suburbanites; an earnings tax has that merit. However, it is also just and desirable to have graduated rates and allowances for dependents. The present state income tax has that merit. The bill can be improved by bringing these two objectives into harmony through a graduated tax levied at the place where the income is earned.

As it stands, the new proposal follows the Kaufmann-Municipal League formula in turning the other half of the income tax into the school fund. This feature should be dropped. The automatic handout is undesirable for counties and cities; it is equally so for school districts.

The proposed bill is encouraging evidence of concern in the Legislature for the cities' plight.

Just Like Mussolini

Gov. Donnelly, acting like a Mussolini, has summarily ousted from office the six members of the State Board of Training Schools. He has called out the troops, so to speak, by placing the school at Boonville in charge of Col. Waggoner, superintendent of the Highway Patrol, who is to act as the Governor's personal agent.

The Governor has lost his head. Earlier this week, he requested the resignation of the board members. When he read in the papers that some of them were going to refuse to resign, but were instead going to make an issue of the matter, the Governor exercised his authority to the ultimate. Perhaps he exceeded his ultimate authority.

In case of anticipated dismissal of board members, the law provides that charges must be filed and a hearing conducted before the Governor. The Governor ran roughshod over this provision. He kicked out his own board without a hearing.

Apparently, the Governor is worried. Apparently, he realized that his peremptory request for resignations was a mistake. It had met with widespread criticism over the state. Moreover, it had produced revelations showing that the Governor himself is highly responsible for the admittedly bad conditions at Boonville.

These bad conditions are nothing new. They have existed for many years. The ousted board was trying very hard to remedy them. It had made considerable progress in the last few months, after the incompetent friend of the Governor, the Rev. LeRoy Munyon, had been removed as superintendent. The dismissal of Munyon had rankled the Governor no end.

The ousted board was struggling with a problem actually created by Gov. Donnelly and the Legislature, and by previous Governors and previous Legislatures. Last year, the Legislature belatedly appropriated $1,500,000 for improvements to the ramshackle plant at Boonville. Gov. Donnelly pared this down to $843,000. The Legislature passed a law to permit transfer of older boys of an incorrigible nature, to remedy one of Boonville's most difficult problems. Gov. Donnelly vetoed it because he thought it "unworkable." State Senator Jasper Smith disputes this. The Governor, he thought, was being technical.

When, in an attempt to get needed action from the Legislature, the ousted board invited a State Senate investigation of the school, Gov. Donnelly called for its resignation, citing, in his lawyer-like way, a flock of statutes to sustain him. Yet without legislative action, and approval of the Governor, the board could not make fundamental improvements at Boonville. The board knew what it was doing; the Governor evidently did not.

The ousted board contains some able and highly respected citizens. The Governor has attempted to humiliate them before the people of Missouri. We think in the end he will be shown to have humiliated himself.

Five thousand bronze battle stars are being offered for sale by the War Assets Administration at 3 cents each. We suppose this finally supplies the answer to that old question about the price of glory.

As to Schuler and Koenig

An employe of Anton Schuler, clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, made a mistake in a commitment paper. He made two prison sentences run concurrently instead of consecutively, with the result that a burglar was freed 16 months before a parole could even be legally considered. That burglar has confessed to 50 or 60 burglaries done since his parole. And the error was made by one J. Fred Koenig, as Koenig admits.

Separately or together, Schuler and Koenig make an unpleasant story. Schuler, a leader in the old Courthouse Ring, has held various public offices most of the time since 1907. As Public Administrator, he was slow to give a full accounting of estate funds in his care in spite of pressure from the Probate Court and a lawsuit by the state. Receipts for matters he handled between 1931 and 1934 were still hanging fire in 1944.

In 1939, the state took judgments against Schuler for income taxes he had owed since 1934 and 1936. As late as 1945, the state was seeking execution for $1156.

Koenig is a confessed and paroled black marketer of liquor. Later, in the 1944 primary, he was in a shady scheme to run for the State Senate against another Republican candidate. Koenig did not at that time have back his citizenship after the federal offense; he could not have taken office. Nevertheless, he went through with his shabby campaign, giving the district committee a postdated resignation to take effect if he had won. He was beaten in the primary.

The two names came together when Schuler hired Koenig as his chief deputy. Because of Koenig's record, the Circuit Court refused last January to confirm him. Schuler first threatened to defy the court, then pleaded for a 90-day stay of Koenig's departure. "Only man in the office who understands every job," Schuler asserted.

Koenig finally resigned last May, but Schuler hired him back in a private deal. Koenig, says Schuler, has "a very good brain." Being out of the office much of the time himself, Schuler needs a good brain.

That "very good brain," nevertheless, is associated with the gross error that freed a burglar long before his time. It is also associated with the bail bond scandal of last fall, because Koenig was then Schuler's unofficial "auditor." Schuler—or Koenig, or somebody—held the check for one forfeited bond for nine months instead of turning the money over to the Board of Education. Harvey Morris, the busiest professional bondsman in the city, said at the time: "Schuler can deposit our checks right away, even before forfeitures are reduced to judgment, but he never does. He treats us very nice." Schuler admitted that he did not know what checks were in his safe deposit box.

How do the people of St. Louis like this man Schuler whom they have so often elected to office? How do they like the kind of job he does, the company he keeps?

Los Angeles Republicans are indignant because Philadelphia hotel men plan a 50 per cent increase in rates for the national convention. After all, it puts inflation in an entirely different light.

Will Two Europes Form One?

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Preoccupation with clashes on the Continent may keep us from seeing what is actually happening, says correspondent; nations are banding together in larger units; conflict between East and West is a threat, but there is also the possibility they may coalesce.

By Leland Stowe

We live with our noses smack against the dark spots in the world picture. Great smudges, like the "two-world split" and the East-West antagonisms, monopolize our sight and our thinking. Around and within the smudges there are some compensating streaks of light.

My friend Derso, the distinguished European caricaturist, has been a close student of the Twentieth Century World Follies for 30 years. But he's always been a remarkably detached spectator. Being from a small country by origin (Hungary) and a world citizen by outlook, he has never been too personally involved with the ambitions of the big powers. Through scores of international conferences Derso stood back where he could get a broader and, often a longer view.

Georgi Dimitrov

"I think a lot of harm is being done by so much talk about 'two worlds'," Derso remarked recently. "Is there really any sound reason to expect One World, or even Two Worlds, to emerge in just a few years? Actually, of course, we now have four or five worlds. The Anglo-American world, the Latin-American world, the Soviet world, the Far Eastern world—yes, and the South Asiatic world of India, Burma, Indonesia. We should add the Moslem world to these. Then there is Europe."

When you itemize the present political-geographical divisions of our planet in this fashion, suddenly, you perceive that the world's nations, in this century, are steadily merging into larger groupings.

Peace in the Balkans

"When I look at Europe today what do I see," asks Derso. "I see a Europe which, in some fundamental respects, has progressed amazingly from what it was when I was called into the Austro-Hungarian Army in 1914. Take eastern Europe. For centuries Hungarians were fighting Serbs, Czechs or Poles. The Serbs were fighting Hungarians, Bulgars or other neighboring peoples.

"Today, except for the Greeks, none of these peoples in eastern Europe can fight each other. We may not like how the Soviets and Communists have bound seven different nations together. Just the same these seven nations are now prohibited from hating and fighting each other. They are forced to trade together and work closer together. Europe is becoming two Europes. Can we expect one Europe—even less one world—before there are two? In the long view, perhaps we are making more progress than we realize."

Derso made these observations weeks before Great Britain, through Foreign Secretary Bevin, made her epochal proposal for a Union of Western European Nations. Before this happened the deeper changes in Europe had been progressing steadily. Almost unaware we've been watching 20-odd European nations emerging roughly into two halves. Compared to today's Europe Napoleonic Europe was chaotically divided.

Trade With the West

Even without Britain's new and historic policy, other and little-noticed developments have pointed up the evolution toward increasing unification into two Europes. Here are two pertinent recent news items:

Item I: Dimitrov, Bulgaria's Communist premier, frankly forecast an Eastern European Federation of seven nations—Bulgaria, Albania, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Few political barriers to the formation of such a federation now remain. (Editor's Note: Pravda has rebuked Dimitrov for making this statement. Such a union, it said, is unnecessary.)

But Dimitrov also made a revealing admission. He declared that such an Eastern European Federation would "want to trade with Western powers . . . on the principle of complete equality." First of all, he said, these seven nations would form a customs union between themselves. Never before have all eastern European nations adopted common regulations for commerce and economic co-operation.

Item II: Concerns precisely the same tendency in western Europe. Well before the Bevin speech a joint Franco-Italian committee urged early creation of a customs union between these two key nations. Such an agreement, it is proposed, should be linked to the customs union already uniting Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg (Benelux). These are revolutionary steps. Britain's emergence as champion of "western unity" is even more revolutionary. Establishment of any Western European Union will take considerable time. Almost certainly the Scandinavian countries and Switzerland will refuse to participate; officially anyway. That would leave a third, middle group in Europe. But the strictly western and eastern groups would be predominant. Their gradual consolidation now appears inevitable.

Simple and Tremendous

So what is happening in Europe is both relatively simple and tremendous. Europe's long-divided nations have been so impoverished by two terrible wars that they are compelled to co-operate in groupings much larger than simple national units.

This is why two predominant Europes (with a shaded middle-ground between them) are coming into being. Of course, a Communist Europe and a Western Europe would still leave much to be desired. Of course, the risks of a final conflict cannot be discounted. But Europeans today are at last facing the fact that they must merge in order to hope to survive.

King-Size Steaks

From the Philadelphia Bulletin

An Englishman who went home after two years in our midst, wrote in a large London publication that "I don't expect you to believe me when I say I shall not miss America's steaks."

A truly sensational statement to make in view of the bleak fare available in the United Kingdom. "I did not eat a half dozen of them in two years," he went on. "They are big—much too big for a British stomach."

How the size of our steaks compares with the size of British stomachs (emaciated as they must be by now) is a technical detail that the owner of an American stomach could not be expected to know without special study—the time for which he certainly has not had, owing to his preoccupation in trying to make enough money to get a steak to fit his own stomach.

This observation by our British guest most likely was a manifestation of that snobbishness the British are supposed to practice—putting himself in a six-steak class in two years, just as if there weren't millions of Americans in the same class.

Between Book Ends

The Unsocialist Socialist

Ivor Brown, Editor of the London Observer, in the New York Times Book Review

There is a good deal of random cleverness in this book, which leads in too many ways at once to be constantly helpful to Shavian beginners. But Bentley does put his finger right on the spot when he stresses "the standard conflict of vitality and system." In other words, Shaw, as a life-long Socialist, has always been screaming for everything to be planned, controlled, organized.

But will he himself put up with plan, control and organization? Not for a moment. Shaw rails at mankind and especially at the English (who have given him a home and a rapidly increasing income for over 70 years) on the ground that they are deplorable anarchists, incapable of decent discipline. But there is no greater anarch than he is himself, a fact which he does not pause to deplore.

Bernard Shaw

Nobody preached co-operation with as much passion as Wells; but nobody was more incapable, temperamentally, of intellectual co-operation. That is not abuse. One likes him for it, as an unsocialist Socialist, he was champion of his class.

Nobody in his senses would blame him for that. The truly socialist Socialist always agreeing, never quarreling, might be the kingpin of progress, but he would be the ace-bore of the platform and the publisher's office.

So Shaw, like Wells, went on commanding the British to be Socialists—and it was his campaigning, together with that of Wells and other intellectual anarchists, that toppled the British middle class over into temporary acceptance of Attleeism. But, whenever you start to investigate Shaw's dogma in his drama, you find, as Eric Bentley has the good sense to demonstrate, that his pet theory or his pet hero is individualist.

Decade after decade the clever young men have been trying to dismiss Shaw as dated. But that game has faded away. The truth is, and Bentley knows it, that the plays, and especially the prefaces to the plays, contain judgments that transcend the years and the generations.

Obviously, Shaw's pamphleteering prose-style has still a clarity and vigor unequaled in our time. Has he ever written vaguely, mistily, pompously? No; his pen carves up the subject into neat, handy slices and presents a banquet for Everyman.

No wonder the little fuss-pots of the literary cliques have tried to run him down; every time he writes—and he still has admirable letters in the London Times and occasional articles in the press—he shows up the middle gentsia by the simple unpretentious cogency with which he presents a case. It may be a whimsical, fantastic case. But it is stated with a masterly logic.

Eric Bentley is not himself another Shaw in expository skill. But he knows his master's mind and hand and his "polemical defense" is full of lively thrusts which are not unworthy of his theme.

Novel of the Early West

JOHN BARRY, by Donald F. Bedford. (Creative Press Inc., New York.)

John Barry is the hero of a historical novel of California in its beginning and its greatness. This Barry, not entirely fictitious, journeyed from Maine to California, seeking his fortune and finding it and playing an important part in the making of history in the far west. He was at Sutter's mill when the first flakes of gold were discovered and was among those who rescued from starvation and cold the last survivors of the ill-fated Donner party. With him in the narrative are characters so numerous that a roster is supplied for readers who might become confused, adventures innumerable and women, good and bad.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Eisenhower's Act of Greatness

THE reasons behind General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's decision to remove himself once and for all from consideration as a presidential candidate are many and varied, as must always be true in a situation so highly complex. But the reasons as they relate to the American political scene today should cause some serious self-searching on the part of everyone who pretends to any political responsibility.

The popular demand for Eisenhower for President grew, in part at least, out of a feeling that the time calls for something more than the self-seeking politician. It was the need for a strong man, a leader, a hero.

Gen. MacArthur

Eisenhower was keenly aware of how this entered into his popularity. He understood that many people were turning to him with the wistful belief that he could produce some sort of magic which would resolve the problems pressing so hard. A keen student of democracy, Eisenhower understood, too, that this was not a sign of political health. It disturbed him deeply that powers should be attributed to him which he did not possess.

Soldier's Handicap.

A military man would be handicapped as President, a fact which Gen. Eisenhower recognized. No matter how careful he was nor how far he bent over backward to avoid the appearance of favoring the armed services, he would be accused of doing just that. Motives would be constantly sought in his military conditioning and background.

What troubled the General most about the whole experience was that even his friends would not take seriously his repeated protests that he did not want the presidency or any high political office.

They would smile skeptically when he would say, with all possible earnestness, that he meant what he said. And the skepticism was not allayed when he said with equal earnestness that a military man should not shut the door to a draft for the presidency in the event of some unforeseeable circumstances.

Opening for Cynics.

That, said cynical Washington, was the loophole which would make it possible to organize a draft. It was in part genuine modesty that held Eisenhower back from issuing a statement sooner. The very fact of saying no was a kind of boast that popular demand would be resisted in no other way. Or so the harassed General reasoned.

Once the decision was taken to say an unmistakable no, Eisenhower immediately felt more at peace with himself and the world than he had since the boom had begun. It remained to make his language clear beyond the possibility of misinterpretation.

Thus he debated whether to say that he "could not accept nomination" or that he "would not accept" it. He decided finally on "could" instead of "would" as being the stronger word.

Under No Illusions.

There were many who sought to dissuade him from the final step. Half an hour before the statement was to be made public, a politician friend got the General on the telephone and tried for 10 minutes to talk him out of his intention.

Eisenhower was never under any illusion about the attitude of the professional politicians toward him. He knew that the Republican managers and bosses would take him only if they were forced to. That is why he persisted in believing that the nomination was a remote contingency, and this helps to explain his reluctance to announce that he was putting the crown aside.

The tempest in a teapot over remarks he was supposed to have made at a Washington dinner party amused him enormously. This effort—there are those who believe it was deliberately framed—to make it seem that he held radical views on taxing business caused him not a moment's worry. When a loyal friend who had been present on the occasion offered to make an affidavit saying that Eisenhower had expressed no such views, the General thanked him warmly and declined the offer.

How About 1952?

On the whole, the response to his statement has gratified him. It has been hinted that he wanted to sideswipe Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur—which is unfair. He felt compelled to state his reasons for withdrawing. But in doing so he was careful to say, "At least, this is true in my case."

Some of his most persistent admirers began to talk almost at once about 1952. Eisenhower's answer to this is that he will then be 62 years old. There has been no suggestion of any other political office, such as a Cabinet post, and he has no intention of accepting any such post if it were offered.

Gen. Eisenhower has performed an act of greatness. He has performed it with the humility and the dignity that characterize a great man.

WALTER LIPPMANN

A Load Off the State Department

SECRETARY MARSHALL and his successors will be among those who benefit the most from the refusal of Senator Vandenberg and his committee to put the European recovery program under the Department of State. They will be relieved of a great burden.

The argument in favor of the original proposal was that since ERP is an engine of foreign policy, it must be subordinate to the Secretary of State. If that were a sound view, then every other department and agency of government which acts outside the three-mile limit should also be under the direct control of the Secretary of State.

Sec. Marshall.

Under this theory of government, he would become in effect the Prime Minister; yet in the American system it is not the Secretary of State but the President who makes foreign policy and conducts foreign relations. The President can be, and has often been, his own Secretary of State. But the Secretary of State cannot be his own President.

Requires Many Cooks.

Even when the President recognizes his own limitations, and selects, as Mr. Truman has, a man of great prestige and superior ability, it is impossible to delegate to the Secretary of State the conduct of foreign relations. They involve so many departments of Government so continually and so intricately that they cannot be controlled, or even co-ordinated, by the head of one of these departments.

When the Department of State attempts to do what only the President can do, it does not really take control of all the multifarious activities which enter into foreign relations. It becomes a kind of receptacle of those activities which have not been pre-empted and nailed down by some other department, as for example, propaganda; or are white elephants, as, for example, the military government of occupied areas.

Already Unwieldy.

The most serious consequence of taking over so many ill-assorted operations has been that the department has become an unwieldy bureaucracy. The unwieldiness of the machine causes the responsible men at the top to become so immersed in the details that the great decisions of high policy are really made in bits and pieces by subordinates down deep in the bureaus.

Policy is not formed at the top by men who have time to consider the whole situation. They are too busy for that. They make policy in the main by settling disputes which come up to them from below.

Secretary's Absences.

The difficulties have been compounded by the practice which Mr. Byrnes adopted, and Mr. Marshall has continued, which is to treat the Secretary of State as a roving ambassador. No one can form and plan and really direct a global foreign policy — particularly one so vastly overextended as our own is today—if he is away from Washington attending international conferences or making speeches so much of the time.

A consecutive, systematic, and thoroughly considered judgment cannot be arrived at by long-distance telephone, from cables and through occasional consultation.

It was never more necessary than it is now that this condition be corrected. On the one hand, the country has commitments all around the world which, if they are not to be beyond our resources and our power, require careful and consistent judgment and planning.

On the other hand, the situation, as Mr. Churchill said the other day, is evolving rapidly to a point where things are coming to a head. If we are prepared, lucid, resolute, and inventive, it may be that events can be developed which can lead to a settlement of the war we have won and of that other war which all must dread.

Too Many Demands.

Only men who are not too busy to think can hope to be prepared. They will be much too busy to think if from day to day, and at any hour, they are called upon to listen to the anguished entreaties of foreign ambassadors, to decide the disputes among the departments of the Government, to iron out the difficulties arising from agreements that prove to be unworkable, which the administration of the European recovery program will unavoidably demand.

That would mean only that in assuming too much control of the Marshall plan, the Department of State would lose sight of, and would neglect, all the other things that need to be done if the grand purpose of the Marshall plan is to be achieved.

CATHOLIC GROUP CALLS TAFT ACT A STEP BACKWARD

Industry Council Plan Backers Assert Law Is Based on a Philosophy of Repression.

Strong criticism of the Taft-Hartley Act was contained in a report to the American Catholic Sociological Society, in convention at St. Louis University, by the Industry Council Plan Committee of the society today.

The society, in a business meeting, adopted a resolution which stated, "The report has been heard and received by the American Catholic Sociological Society, without committing the society to the content thereof."

The committee asserted that the act is a reversal of a trend established in this country in 1933 and is a step backward from the realization of the Industry Council Plan. This is described in the report as "a plan based on democratically selected councils of employers' associations and labor unions which would meet to discuss and solve mutual problems on the local, regional and national levels."

The Taft-Hartley Act is "based on a philosophy of repression rather than on one of co-operation," the report said, "and on a theory of balancing conflicting powers, not on any recognition of the need of co-ordinated and integrated functioning of the groups involved.

"Atmosphere of Distrust."

"Any such basic concept will not advance the cause of the fundamental principles upon which the Industry Council Plan must be based. Whether the act is pro-labor or pro-capital is not the issue. The act is built upon an atmosphere of distrust and fear, a too great consciousness of conflict—all of which tends to submerge the very real bases of any impetus to harmony."

Detailed criticism of many specific provisions of the act were included in the report, which was prepared by an eight-man committee, headed by Brother Gerald J. Schnepp, S.M., of St. Louis University.

Non-directive counseling, a technique of helping emotionally disturbed persons by assisting them to recognize themselves the problems which are upsetting them, was described today by the Rev. Charles A. Curran, professor of psychology at St. Charles Seminary, Columbus, O.

"When confusions and fears resulting from unsolved conflicts are poured out to a counselor," he said, "the client experiences a slow growth in self-understanding. As the person can talk about himself, he experiences a deep sense of relief, the emotions of insecurity and and fear are no longer so overpowering."

Rural-Urban Question.

A large increase in the number of Americans who are living in rural areas but are not farmers has intensified the necessity for understanding and co-operation between rural and urban populations, Emerison Hynes, professor of sociology at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., and a member of the board of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, told the delegates yesterday.

Rural residents have control of most Legislatures, he pointed out, necessitating mutual trust and understanding between urban workers and farmers. "It is far easier to change the minds of rural people than to change the system of legislative representation," he observed.

"Rural and urban producers," he continued, "are involved in the same economy, and the prosperity of one demands the prosperity of the other, in the long run. High incomes at home and unprecedented need for food abroad have temporarily pushed farm income to record levels, but individual prices and incomes have risen almost as rapidly. If history is any proof, the farmer's income will fall sooner, faster and further than the former. This must be, and can be, avoided, for the good of urban society as well as the rural. It involves mutual understanding and co-operation."

Dr. A. H. Clemens of Catholic University of America, Washington, discussed family counseling work, and asserted that 12 marriage experts surveyed last year were unanimous in agreeing that the most important means to stem the rising tide of divorce was premarital counseling.

The convention, which opened yesterday, will end tomorrow with sessions on social problems in Europe, sociology of the parish, and characteristics of slum dwellers.

ECCLES DEMOTED FOR HIS ECONOMY PLEA, TAFT SAYS

Senator Terms Government Spending 'One of Greatest Causes of Inflation.'

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 31 (AP) — Government spending "is one of the greatest causes of inflation," Senator Taft (Rep.), Ohio, said last night, blaming demotion of Marriner S. Eccles from the Federal Reserve Board chairmanship on the latter's insistence on economy.

Taft, Republican presidential aspirant, told the Manufacturers' Association of Lancaster that more than "mere chance" prompted President Truman to make Eccles vice chairman.

Taft said the real reason was that Eccles had pointed out in testimony before Congress the dangers of federal spending in time of inflation. Taft cited Eccles's call, before the Senate-House Economic Committee, for "rigid government economy" in times like these.

Instead, Taft said that Truman has proposed "the largest peacetime budget in the history of the world" in his appeal for expenditures of $39,669,000,000 in the year beginning July 1.

Asserting that high taxes are adding 25 per cent to the cost of goods, Taft added:

"Government spending is today one of the greatest causes of inflation. If we increase that spending this year, as the President proposes, it means even higher prices."

He said he looks on the Marshall plan as "a desirable, and I believe, a necessary, program to help the Western European countries get back to full production and a stable economy."

"That should be of advantage to our contest with Communism and to the future peace of the world," he said, "but there is nothing sacred about the amount proposed."

The Marshall plan can be carried out with only half the proposed expenditures, Taft asserted, if "we select wisely the projects in which our assistance will enable those countries to go to work for themselves and produce more."

"If we deal out dollars lavishly," he said, "they will be administered lavishly and a large part of it will be wasted, as in the case of the British loan."

Taft pointed out he was "very hopeful that there will be a compromise on the Marshall plan" and suggested that five billion dollars and not the proposed $6,800,000,000 be expended in the first 15 months.

Toby Thinks Demotion Was for Political Reasons.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Senator Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, said today he thinks he can prove President Truman demoted Marriner S. Eccles for "political" reasons.

Tobey said he has a hot lead, at least, which indicates that is why Eccles was asked to give up the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve Bank. Tobey added he hopes to be able to dispel the mystery at a hearing of the Banking Committee, which he heads.

"I believe," Tobey said, "that the controlling factor is political."

The Banking Committee will have to pass on Truman's nomination of Eccles's successor, Thomas B. McCabe of Philadelphia. McCabe is chairman of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Board. But first, Tobey said, he is going to finish his private inquiry into the President's motive for the change. He said this may take "some time." In spite of Tobey's attitude, indications are that the Senate will approve the nomination.

Truman told his press conference Thursday nobody influenced his decision. He would not say why he made the move and he commented that Congress can't investigate the President.

'MISS HUSH' SHOW PAYS $672,000 TO POLIO FOUNDATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (UP)—The final payoff of the "Miss Hush" March of Dimes radio contest was to be made here today in the form of a $672,000 check to Basil O'Connor, president of the national foundation for infantile paralysis.

The check was to be presented by Mrs. Ralph Edwards, wife of the master of ceremonies on the Truth-or-Consequences radio show which sponsored the contest. The money was contributed by participants in the contest.

The national foundation said the funds would be used to fight infantile paralysis epidemics next summer. The foundation reported that in the last two "Miss Hush" series in which it has taken part, a total of $1,215,000 has been collected for the March of Dimes campaign.

HELEN JEPSON GIVES CONCERT FROM FLORIDA BOXING RING

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera soprano, gave a two-hour performance in a boxing ring last night to an audience of 1500 in the American Legion Coliseum.

The temporary concert hall was used as a result of a bar placed on the city-owned auditorium by the Tampa local of the AFL American Federation of Musicians. Sarasota was placed on the "unfair list" early last November by the union.

It was first planned that Miss Jepson should sing in a tent furnished by the Ringling Bros. Circus, but inclement weather made such a setting impracticable.

Senators Want To Know Score On Eccles Shift

Truman Wouldn't Give Him Reason in Half-Hour Talk.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.

IN a painful half-hour's conversation last Saturday morning, President Truman repeatedly refused to explain to Marriner S. Eccles his reason for demoting him to vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of governors.

The President said his reasons were "personal" and did not imply a lack of confidence in Eccles.

Eccles pressed him to reveal any points of disagreement between them, but he shook his head.

Finally, Eccles, a forthright man, said bluntly: "I think I have a fairly logical mind, but I don't get it."

Truman merely repeated that he hoped Eccles would accept the second place, that he must have confidence in him and help him out of a tight situation.

Eccles left the White House baffled but feeling strongly that he ought to resign. He had expected reappointment. He did not learn until late the day before that he was to be replaced by Thomas Bayard McCabe, a Philadelphia Republican. Presidential aid John Steelman telephoned him the news and arranged the Saturday conference.

Advice of Friends.

Over the weekend Eccles consulted close friends, who insisted he must take Truman's pleas at face value. Their view was that while such demotion ordinarily would indicate lack of confidence and subsequent resignation, the President had wiped that out. Surely the President was in some trap, they argued, or he would not try to retain Eccles and to reappoint an Eccles man, M. S. Szymczak, for another full 14-year term. In any case, they said, the Eccles majority on the board is a fact, and he could still wield great power.

It is, they told Eccles, a question of leadership, not chairmanship, and you will still be the leader.

Now the die is cast, and Eccles is assuring the stream of callers to his office that he will remain to protect the organization he has built, promote its deals and push its program in Congress.

Senators Bewildered.

This authoritative report of the Eccles-Truman dealings further bewilders Senators, who would like to know the score before they vote to confirm McCabe. They protest they cannot find a pattern in the sudden shift which puts a conservative Republican in a New Dealer's place and robs the South of its representation on the board but still does not insure a real change in the board's policies.

It was learned that Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah, Eccles's state, was not forewarned of his constituent's demotion. Thomas, a faithful Administration supporter, is understood to feel both that Eccles deserves better of the Republic and that it is bad politics, since the Democrats cannot win the election without the West.

The White House now states that Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder did not demand Eccles's resignation. However, political figures who sought to promote the candidates desired by Southern Senators were told to clear it with Snyder. Snyder has also complained that Eccles had lost the confidence of the banking community.

The comment of one New Deal Senator was:

WOMAN BORN HERE 101 TOMORROW, WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Mrs. Mary K. Lindner will celebrate her 101st birthday anniversary tomorrow afternoon by holding open house for her friends at her home at 4411 South Grand boulevard from 3 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Lindner, who said last year that she had realized a life-long ambition in reaching 100 years, has failed somewhat in recent months, but she is still able to get around the house and is always glad to see and chat with old friends. She was careful to see that arrangements for the open house today included a birthday cake with the proper number of candles.

She probably will join the guests in having a glass of wine, which she enjoys sipping occasionally, her niece, Mrs. Frances Meyer, who lives with Mrs. Lindner, told the Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Linder recently dropped one custom of many years standing, however. That was a nightly glass of beer with an egg beaten into it. When her doctor told her she could have either beer or wine but not both, Mrs. Lindner decided she would rather have the wine.

Mrs. Lindner was born at Eleventh and Delmar boulevard (then Morgan street). When she moved to her present home 47 years ago, it was "out in the country," she recalled. Her father was Herman H. Meyer, a wagon maker. The last wagen he made before retiring was for a young wood dealer on Gravois road, named Ulysses S. Grant.

OTTO A. KREBS DIES; COURT REPORTER FOR 55 YEARS

Otto A. Krebs, a Belleville court reporter for 55 years and father of Dr. Otto S. Krebs, St. Louis obstetrician, died last night at St. Anthony's Hospital of infirmities. Mr. Krebs, who was 83 years old, lived at 8224 Brighton way, Clayton.

He was reporter for the Third Judicial Circuit in southern Illinois from 1884 until his retirement in 1939. Among the testimony he transcribed was that given during the 14 weeks of the East St. Louis race riot trials in 1919.

In addition to Dr. Otto S. Krebs, he is survived by one other son, Waldo Krebs, of Sioux City, Ia., and a daughter, Mrs. Marie Fitzporter, of Muskogee, Okla. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at the Church of the Immacolata, 8900 Clayton road, Richmond Height, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

GANDHI'S DEATH INTERRUPTS U.N. KASHMIR TALKS

Security Council Stands in Silence Out of Respect for Him—Gromyko's Statement.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—United Nations efforts to settle the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir state were suspended today because of Mohandas K. Gandhi's death.

"If your whole country should go up in flames, there would be little use in arguing a case before the Security Council," he said.

It was understood that N. Gopalaswami Ayyanger, minister without portfolio and India's special chief delegate here, might be summoned home. Sources close to Ayyanger indicated the Indian Government now would evaluate the whole Kashmir situation in the light of repercussions from the assassination.

Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, Pakistan Foreign Minister, said he had no plans now to return soon to Karachi.

The council set a tentative meeting on the India-Pakistan dispute for next Tuesday. In the meantime it had no program for renewing direct talks between the two dominions.

The council now has before it two resolutions from Belgium. They call for a U.N.-sponsored plebiscite in Kashmir on whether it shall be in India or Pakistan and for a three-nation council commission to use its efforts to halt fighting.

A majority of delegates have indicated approval of the two proposals. India has opposed them on the ground that fighting must be halted before any other step can be taken.

Indian government troops are now stationed in predominantly Moslem Kashmir, whose Hindu Maharajah has joined the state to India.

India charges that Pakistan is helping tribal invaders of Kashmir in efforts to force accession to Pakistan. Both sides have agreed to a plebiscite but differ over methods and conditions.

"Together with millions of peoples in all countries, I express my deep sympathy to the Indian people in connection with the tragic death of their outstanding leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, said: "Gandhi fell a martyr. We hope his martyrdom will inspire the United Nations to press forward to those aims for which he stood."

PAIR LIVE ON SAME FARM ALL 71 YEARS OF THEIR MARRIAGE

VIENNA, Ill., Jan. 31 (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Pressley Morris will observe their seventy-first wedding anniversary tomorrow on the same Johnson county farm where they have lived all their married life.

Uncle Press and Aunt Cindy, as they are known to their friends here, said they planned to have only their sons and daughter over for the occasion. Their entire family has grown too large for a small party. They have 23 grandchildren, 34 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Each is 91 years old. They have lived their entire lives in the Flatwood community near here. They believe they have managed to live together so long and so happily because they always have tried to see each other's point of view in family controversies, and have tried to be good neighbors. They are regular churchgoers and their home always has been open to their friends.

Then, too, they said they have tried "to do the best we could each day," and let the future take care of itself.

COMMUNIST SAYS HE WOULD NOT FIGHT RUSSIA IN ANY WAR

NEW YORK, Jan 31 (AP)—Alexander Bittelman, Communist party national committeeman, now free in $5000 bail awaiting deportation proceedings, said yesterday he "would not fight against the Soviet Union in any war."

He told a press conference at the office of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, that he regarded himself as an American citizen because of his long residence in the United States. He came to this country from Russia in 1920.

"Any war against the Soviet Union would be an unjust war," he said. He was arrested in Miami Jan. 14.

People Dazed, He Moved Around Them, Grasped Man While Airmen Disarmed Him.

NEW DELHI, Jan. 31 (AP)—An American bystander told today how he seized the assassin of Mohandas Gandhi before police took the man into custody.

The American, who had gone to Gandhi's prayer meeting, was Herbert Reiner Jr. of Springdale, Conn. He gave this account:

"People were standing as though paralyzed. I moved around them, grasped his (the assassin's) shoulder and spun him around, then took a firmer grip on his shoulders.

"Royal Indian Air Force men disarmed him and police took him into custody. I did not see him do anything to indicate he wanted to kill himself, and I don't believe reports he tried to kill himself at that time."

AIRLINER DAMAGED BY LIGHTNING, LANDS WITH NO ONE HURT

SHANNON AIRPORT, Eire, Jan. 31 (UP)—A four-engine Canadian airliner carrying 11 passengers and a crew of seven was struck by lightning last night and badly damaged, but none aboard was injured.

The plane was hit as it approached Shannon airport for a landing. The fuselage was damaged, holes were ripped in the wings and the ailerons were put out of order but the pilot, Capt. K. G. Main of Montreal, made a perfect landing. Two passengers complained of shock.

The plane was bound for Prestwick, Scotland, but was diverted to Shannon because of weather conditions. Operated by Trans-Canada Airlines, the plane was built by Canada Air Limited, Montreal, and is powered by British Merlin engines.

CIO CHIEF DISAVOWS THIRD PARTY, ATTACKS 'RAW DEAL'

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 31 (AP)—Philip Murray says the CIO is definitely opposed to a third party and is committed to no one in the 1948 presidential campaign.

The CIO and United Steel Worker president asserted in a nation-wide broadcast last night "the only thing that the CIO is committed to is the welfare and security of its members and the entire American people."

Noting that he spoke on the birthday of the late President Roosevelt, Murray said, "the men and women of organized labor . . . are sick and tired of the 'raw deal' they have been receiving in recent months. They want, and must have, another 'new deal.'" The means of securing this, he said, is the CIO's Political Action Committee which Murray promised will be "more active than ever" in 1948.

TRUMAN AND MYRON TAYLOR CONFER ON MILK SHIPMENTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Myron Taylor, President Truman's personal representative to the Pope, conferred with Truman yesterday on ways for continuing shipments of milk to Italian children.

Taylor would not discuss the possibility of his return to the Vatican or criticisms by some Protestant churchmen of his assignment to that post.

TEXAS RENT RISE GRANTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Dallas county (Tex.) was granted a 4 per cent rent increase yesterday by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods. He turned down a request for a 15 per cent hike in Kenton and Campbell counties, Kentucky.

The Dallas defense-rental area had asked for a 10 per cent increase. The 4 per cent increase is effective Feb. 3.

HARPIST, ORCHESTRA IN FINE PERFORMANCE

Grandjany Shows Extraordinary Command of Intractable Instrument.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN.

For the first time in many years a harpist took the role of solo performer with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at yesterday afternoon's concert in Kiel Auditorium. The assisting artist was Marcel Grandjany, whose extraordinary command of an expressive but singularly intractable instrument was demonstrated in two numbers.

In the first of these, Handel's Concerto in B Flat Major, Mr. Grandjany accommodated himself to a classical style with discernment and the best of taste. The solo part, to which the executant had made discreet additions, was conveyed with an ease and grace of line that took no account of the fact that a true legato is not natural to the harp. It was to be expected that Mr. Grandjany could produce a mellow tone but it was less usual to hear it sustained in rapid and as well as slow passages and with delicacy of inflection. The strength and carrying power of his tone were also much above the ordinary.

Fine Differentiations.

Ravel's "Introduction and Allegro" provided opportunities for a wider range of dynamics and a number of intermediate shades. Mr. Grandjany offered some fine differentiations of volume and timbre and used them artistically. The effect on the not-too-demonstrative Friday afternoon audience was striking. Mr. Grandjany and Conductor Vladimir Golschmann were recalled many times and the soloist ended by playing three encores.

The orchestral support, particularly in the Ravel piece, was excellent. Indeed, "The Introduction and Allegro" is an ensemble piece with the harp as one member and was so treated even though the number of strings employed was larger than the composer had in mind. The largeness of the auditorium, however, redressed the balance; it was altogether an affecting performance, in its texture, plasticity and general spirit.

Impressive Radiance.

In the first half of the program Conductor Golschmann and the orchestra gave a performance of Tommaso Vitali's "Chaconne" which had an impressive radiance and power. The orchestration by Claude Levy made it sound extremely rich but not inappropriately so. This was followed by the Brahms F Major Symphony in a treatment which elicited the youthful vitality of the ensemble in full measure. It was a big-scaled conception demanding strength, solidity of tone and energy enough to move the big blocks of sound with grace.

The program will be repeated tonight.

FCC RULES STATION CAN'T CENSOR POLITICAL BROADCAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission ruled yesterday that a radio station may not censor the content of political broadcasts, even when the material may appear to be libelous.

The commission further expressed the view that a station operator may not be held financially responsible for such libelous matter going on the air. It said Congress intended to forbid the operator to invoke censorship.

Bills to Try Bluejay Menu After Drake Turns Out to Be Duck Soup

Wilcutt Sharp in 63-34 Win

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 31—Launched successfully on an invasion of the enemy country, the St. Louis University Billikens will continue here tonight in Missouri Valley Conference basketball with "strictly amateur" Creighton U. as the opponent.

A smashing 63-34 Billiken victory over Drake at Des Moines last night, a triumph that crushed the Bulldogs by ten times the margin of any previous home defeat this season, sent St. Louis happily on the way.

The traditional strength of playing on a home court failed to sustain Drake. Creighton will rely on a similar, and probably as futile idea. Yet, no member of the present Billikens team ever has participated in a St. Louis basketball victory at Omaha.

Now Hickey's on Our Side.

That goes way back almost before the war when D. C. Wilcutt and Hank Reynolds were Billikens trying but failing to beat Creighton, which was then coached by Eddie Hickey, now the St. Louis mentor.

But the precedent likely will be knocked into a cocked hat because Creighton, amateur in philosophy, is also very much so in results. The Bluejays have won only five games in 11 and have averaged only 36 points a game.

St. Louis, of course, still rides the victory crest with 11 out of 12 and is on a new winning streak of four straight. Rated about sixth in the nation, the Bills are continuing to score at better than sixty points a game.

"The boys were worried about the Drake game," said Hickey after the victory. "But I don't know what will happen against Creighton."

Drake Simply Outclassed.

Disappointing a capacity crowd of some 6000 in the Drake U. field house, St. Louis outclassed a Drake team that had been known as an in-and-outer but had shown well enough at times to give Bulldog followers high hopes of upsetting the Bills.

Although the brilliant Billiken fast break was frequently jammed, the boys soon accustomed their shooting eyes to the strange surroundings and hit for a .409 percentage. The early rate increased to a snappy .467 in the second half.

Big John Pritchard, an inch taller than six-eight Ed Macauley, had little but height on his side and needed a pair of baskets late in the game, when the score didn't matter, to top the Bulldogs with 11 points.

The honors for the night went to skillful D. C. Wilcutt of the Bills. The clever forward bagged five field goals and missed only one of six free throws for 15 points. Joe Ossola, Marv Schatzmann and Macauley each got four field goals.

Shatzmann particularly tickled his teammates with an out-of-this world left-handed shot while going at full speed down the side of the court. "Just like we always did it at Soldan," Schatzmann explained with a straight face.

Long Time Between Drake Scores.

After the second half began—at which time the Bills held a 28-11 advantage — the Bulldogs again were held at bay. It took them eight minutes to score their fifth field goal.

It was about that time—when the lead was one of 27 points—that Hickey sent in reserves to a greater degree. Drake's Marty Carlson hit a couple of long shots and the scoring pace stepped up on both sides. But except for making it a better show, the Bulldogs cause was hopeless.

Bob Schmidt broke his three-game field goal slump with a second half basket, that was his first since he tallied five times against Holy Cross.

In all it was quite a satisfactory evening, although some of the Bills afterward wished Drake had appeared stronger so that they could figure on the Bulldogs beating the Oklahoma Aggies later on.

As it stands now the defending champion Bills have jumped from last to a tie for third in the Valley standings. Their record is 1-1 including the Aggie defeat. If the Bills win tonight they'll be in second place. After that, they undoubtedly will have to beat the Aggies at Stillwater to stay in the title picture.

But after the performance at Drake, the hazards of the road still to come don't look quite as difficult as before.

Giants and Bears to Play Benefit Contest

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The New York Giants will meet the Chicago Bears in the New York Herald Tribune fresh air fund football game at the Polo Grounds Sept. 14, it was announced today.

The contest replaces the Giant-eastern college all-star game, which has been the attraction since the charity event was instituted in 1936.

How to Land a Right Uppercut

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Bombers Hope Mr. Inside Fulks Forgets His Range-Finder When Warriors Show at Arena Tonight

By Bob Broeg

The Bombers' long pull to the top in the Western Division of the Basketball Association of America could last just long enough for the incomparable Joe Fulks, the high-point man of the hardwood, to draw a bead on the hoops at The Arena tonight.

Only seven percentage points ahead of the Chicago Stags, who may have troubles of their own in a game at Washington, the St. Louis professionals need a victory over Philadelphia if they expect to spend the weekend in the league's penthouse.

The Bombers have won two of three games from the Warriors, defending B.A.A. champions, in a season that has seen the Red and White take 14 of the last 21 games and 10 of 14 after a shaky start. But comparative scores of the last two games with Philadelphia give a good example of why the B.A.A. has a pair of divisional races tighter than shoes that pinch.

In the Warriors' only previous appearance here two weeks ago, the Bombers won by 14 points, 80 to 66. A few nights later at Philadelphia, Fulks and Company prevailed by 23 points, 82 to 59.

As usual that game, the blushing Babe Ruth of Basketball was the difference. Fulks, who has averaged 21.7 points in 30 games, poured in 22 markers with the soft feathery shot he releases off his hip, eyes, ears or any other nearest point of physiological convenience.

Much has been written about the modesty of the 25-year-old former Marine, who came out of the Kentucky hills, stoop-shouldered and relaxed and starred at Murray State. One thing, Joe isn't bashful about shooting. Recently he took 52 cracks at the basket against New York.

Fulks hit only 12 times from the floor that night, but the ol' sharpshooter just was off the target, that's all, podnuh. And the Bombers wouldn't mind if the record-making goal-getter, Mr. Inside, and his long-shooting running mate, little Angelo (Mr. Outside) Musi, left their range-finders at home tonight.

Actually, though, with duck-waddling Belus Smawley again hitting as of old—he connected on six of eight medium-to-long tries against Chicago Thursday night — the home-town team might give Fulks and his mates trouble even if Jumpin' Joe were aimin' in the black with his ol' squirrel-rifle markmanship.

Cardinals Bid for Prep Star's Services

First in line at the youngster's south side home was Cy Slapnicka of the Cleveland Indians, the scout who several years ago elbowed his way through opposition to sign Bob Feller. Following Slapnicka will come representatives of the St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs, Boston Red Sox, Atlanta Crackers (only minor league club so far in the battle for the hurler) and the Philadelphia Phillies.

It's Definite This Time, Says Reyes, After 2nd Resignation

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mexican baseball's future was back in the hands of millionaire importer and sportsman Jorge Pasquel today. High commissioner Alejandro Aguilar Reyes changed his mind yesterday and once more resigned—"definitely"—this time.

Out with the commissioner went hopes of an immediate truce between the Cactus Circuit and United States organized baseball.

The commissioner jumped in and out of his non-paying job all last week. He started peace talks with Walter Mulbry, representing United States Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler. These were interrupted when Pasquel told New York newspapers "United States and Mexican baseball do not see eye to eye," and indicated he would continue to lure United States stars away from their big league jobs.

Reyes resigned with a blast at Pasquel's "dictatorship," then withheld his resignation on receipt of a friendly telegram from Pasquel. He resigned again "definitely" when Pasquel's newspaper Novedades made fun of his hesitations and another less friendly telegram from Pasquel arrived.

With the commissioner gone, Pasquel is again running his own show which he says lost him a million pesos ($200,000) last season. So long as he pays the bill there seems to be no one left in Mexico who will buck him.

Louise Suggs Wins Miami Golf Meet Third Time

The match ended on the thirty-second hole when it was halved with par fours. The national amateur champion from Atlanta, who had won the tournament twice before, had opportunity to close out the match on the thirty-first hole but missed a four-foot putt for a one-over-par. Miss Kirby, also an Atlantan, took it in regulation figures.

In the most spectacular shot of the morning round, Miss Suggs gained a birdie two on the 204-yard fifteenth hole. Her tee shot overrode the green by five feet and gave her a difficult downhill lie for the pin. She chipped it in from 30 feet out.

Flyers Tackle Barons Tonight

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31 — Coach Ebbie Goodfellow and his St. Louis Flyers tackle the Cleveland Barons in an American Hockey League match here tonight. Following the game, the clubs go to St. Louis for another meeting tomorrow night.

Pros Attempting to Sign Two Jayhawk Stars, Sauer Says

ABILENE, Kan., Jan. 31 (AP)—Coach George Sauer of the University of Kansas said yesterday that professional football scouts are attempting to entice at least two of his grid stars away from the collegiate ranks.

Speaking before 200 persons at a chamber of commerce luncheon here, Sauer said the New York Giants of the National Football League are "painting pretty pictures" for Tackle Don (Red) Ettinger and that Otto Schnellbacher, all conference end, also is seriously considering pro offers.

Sauer also said there was danger of the Jayhawks losing the services of two other stars, ends Marvin Small and David Schmidt. Small has a wife and two children and an allergy for Kansas cold weather, was undecided about returning next year, Sauer said. Schmidt plans to enter the medical school.

When someone asked from the floor, "What about Annapolis?" Sauer sidestepped the issue with: "It's a nice place they have there."

South's No. 9 Five Faces Bears

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31—Washington University's Bears, seeking their first road victory of the season, will play Louisville, the South's ninth ranking quintet in a game here tonight.

Coach Blair Gullion sent his charges through a workout in St. Louis yesterday and said there would be no lineup changes. This battle front will show Light and Gerstung at the forwards; Barker at center and Palchoff and London at the guards—that is, if weather conditions permit London to travel to Louisville by air this morning.

Title Races Begin.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Jan. 31 (AP)—The national speed skating championships open a two-day program at Lake Como here today with five of the winners in last week's North American events seeking additional laurels. The national is being held in connection with St. Paul's annual winter carnival.

Buonvino Ends Jack Cranford's Title Go Hopes

Pudgy Gino Buonvino of Bari, Italy, took the wind out of Cranford's sails in a thumping heavyweight bout last night at Madison Square Garden. Young's scheduled Feb. 27 championship bout with Ike Williams was derailed by 19-year-old Paddy DeMarco, in the eight-round semi-final.

Both Buonvino and DeMarco were 2 to 1 underdogs with the surprisingly large crowd of 16,247 that paid $64,836.

Cranford, a tall blond youngster from Washington, D.C., came out of the Coast Guard with bright prospects. Early success was followed by disaster in 1946 when he was knocked out twice. Back on the comeback trail, he had a seven-fight win streak going when he bumped into Roly Poly Gino.

Now Cranford no longer is talked about as a heavyweight title prospect. For that matter, neither is Buonvino. Next on the schedule for tireless Gino probably is a match with Joe Baksi.

Cranford remains a puzzle because he appears to have the makings of a real scrapper. When he boxed Gino, using his superior reach and talented left hand, he had no trouble. But once the Italian rushed to the attack, swinging—not punching—both hands to the body, Jackie folded. Cranford had a bad cut over his left eye and Buonvino's left eye was swollen shut when it ended with a unanimous decision for the invader, who has yet to lose on American soil in 10 scraps.

Young's title bust may not be as disastrous as it sounds. For the veteran from New York's East Side now has a good pay day coming in a return scrap with DeMarco, a product of Brooklyn's Navy Yard sector. Paddy will be able to fight 10 rounds in this state after his twentieth birthday, Feb. 10. They probably will top a late February garden show.

DeMarco's split decision victory over Young should have been fought in a back alley, they battled after the bell for 10 seconds in the second round. DeMarco wrestled Young through the ropes in the same heat and later he, in turn, was thrown to the canvas in a body lock.

DeGroot Coach At West Virginia

MORGANTOWN, W.Va., Jan. 31 (AP) — Returning to college gridirons after four years with the professionals, Dudley Sargent DeGroot on July 1 will become the head football coach at West Virginia University.

DeGroot was named last night to succeed William F. (Bill) Kern, who resigned near the end of last season.

University President Irvin Stewart announced DeGroot's appointment after unanimous recommendations by the university's athletic council and board of governors.

DeGroot said in California he was "very happy to have this opportunity at West Virginia."

DeGroot, former college coach in California, has been unattached since he resigned as coach of the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Conference in the middle of the 1947 season.

Defending Champions Win Handball Match

Harold Srenco and Herb Buschart, battling to keep their Class A doubles championship which they won last year, reached the final round of the Downtown Y.M.C.A. tournament last night, defeating Nick Martinez and Oscar Klayman, 21-13 and 21-11.

They will meet Harry Dreyfus and Jack Srenco this afternoon in the title contest. Dreyfus and Jack Srenco won their way to the final by winning from Bill McGreevy and Leo Peressin, 21-10 and 21-20.

CLASS A DOUBLES

Herb Buschart and Harold Srenco defeated Nick Martinez and Oscar Klayman, 21-13, 21-11; Harry Dreyfus and Jack Srenco defeated Bill McGreevy and Leo Perressin, 21-10, 21-20.

CLASS B DOUBLES

U.S. Hockey Team Wins, Skaters Tie for Second at 500 Meters

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 31 (AP)—The favored snow and ice countries—Norway, Sweden and Switzerland—captured the first gold medals in the strife-torn fifth winter Olympics today under the shadow of a continuing bitter hockey war.

The International Hockey Federation defied an International Olympic Committee order striking hockey from the official program and ordered the tournament to go on.

In the opening game of the day the United States' Amateur Hockey Association team, center of the international controversy, rallied from yesterday's loss to rout Poland, 23 to 4. The match was marked by fist fights and constant bickering with officials.

The United States failed to gain a championship in the opening events but came up with second place tie in the 500-meter speed skating competition and third behind two Switzerland teams in the two-man bobsled race.

Twenty-one-year-old Finn Helgesen of Oslo, Norway, captured the 500-meter (547 yards) speed skating title in 43.1 seconds, cracking the Olympic mark by three-tenths of a second.

Two United States skaters—Robert Fitzgerald and Kenneth Bartholomew, both of Minnepaolis—also bettered the record of :43.4 in tieing Thomas Byberg of Norway for second place. Their time was :43.2.

Sweden's Martin Lundstroem won the gruelling 18-kilometer (a little more than 10 miles) cross country ski race in one hour, 13 minutes and 50 seconds. The event was dominated by Swedish and Norwegian skiers.

A 48-year-old London refrigerator dealer, R. E. A. Bott, captured the handicap event in suicidal Cresta bobsled run with a mark of 2 minutes, 58.8 seconds for three courses down the 1320-yard, treacherously-steep track.

Christopher Fishbacher of Switzerland won the open Cresta event in three minutes, six-tenths of a second. Jack Heaton of New Haven, Conn., Olympic skeleton bobsled champion in 1928, finished second in three minutes, 2.3 seconds.

American hockey players protested to officials several times that Polish roughness was going without penalty. One United States player—Jack Riley of Medford, Mass.,—suffered a bad gash over the eye from a stick blow.

The United States team posted an overnight guard over its bobsled after discovery that the sleds had been tampered with before yesterday's initial two-man tests. The damage was fixed before the runs were made.

Shortly before the start of the second day's activities, the International Ice Hockey Federation announced hockey would continue.

Skaters Protest Rules Used in Olympic Games

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 31 (AP)—Speed skaters from 11 nations agreed last night to protest to the International Olympic Committee and the International Skating Union against the use of the skating union's rules in the fifth winter Olympic games.

It was Benjamin Bagdade of Detroit, manager of the United States speed skaters, who revealed the newest revolt in this trouble-plagued Olympic carnival.

Bagdade said the skaters wanted the pairings for each race to be made on an individual basis, without regard to how the competitors finished in previous events.

The skating union rules provide that the faster skaters are paired against each other in subsequent meetings. Thus the first and second finishers in the 500 meter would be opponents should both compete in the 1500 meter event.

Under Olympic and Skating Union rules, the skaters compete in pairs against the clock. Under United States rules the entire field would compete in a single race with the winner the champion.

Walcott Celebrates His 34th Birthday

CAMDEN, N.J., Jan. 31 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott observed his thirty-fourth birthday quietly today, confident that before another year rolls around he will be the heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

The only public celebration planned to honor the man who almost upset Champion Joe Louis last December was a dinner tonight in the suburban Merchantville High School.

But there was plenty of backslapping, handshaking and well wishes for "the champ" as Jersey Joe is known in these parts.

"Never felt better in my life," said Joe on his return from a personal appearance tour in which he refereed boxing matches.

Asked if he thought he would win the title before he reaches 35, Jersey Joe replied:

"I sure hope so. I'm going to do my best."

Funeral for Faurot's Brother Tomorrow

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP) — Funeral services for Jay Lyle Faurot, brother of football coach Don Faurot of the University of Missouri, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the Sehender funeral home here. Burial will be at Kirksville, Mo.

Faurot, 35, and Charles Utterback, 56, were killed yesterday in a truck-taxi collision at a downtown street intersection.

Finals Tonight In Three High Basket Events

Finals in high school invitation basketball tournaments at Ferguson, Webster Groves and DeAndreis will be played tonight.

In the Ferguson final, it will be Ferguson against Hancock; Normandy and Maplewood are the finalists at Webster, and McBride and St. Louis U. High will fight it out for the title at DeAndreis.

Semifinal play last night saw Normandy turn back University City, 26-24, while Maplewood won from Kirkwood, 39-35. McBride advanced to the DeAndreis final with a 41-38 victory over St. Mary's while St. Louis U. High eliminated Central Catholic, 59-45.

Two of the district's outstanding teams, Beaumont and Collinsville, continued their winning ways last night. Beaumont gained its fifth City League victory by routing Central, 69-36. It was the fifteenth consecutive victory of the season for Beaumont.

Collinsville made it No. 9 in Southwestern Illinois Conference play and 15 in a row for the campaign by downing Wood River, 67-52.

Alexander's 130 Leads at Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—Bespectacled Stewart (Skip) Alexander, Mid Pines, N. C., will be shooting for his first major pro tournament victory when he takes off in the third round of the $10,000 Tucson open today with a one-stroke advantage.

Waiting to snatch the lead if the ex-Duke University player falters in the sub-par pace of 61-63—130 he has set for the first 36 holes are most of golfdom's biggest names.

Leading the contenders, a single stroke behind, is the veteran Ryder cup player Jimmy Hines of Chicago and Tucson. His rounds of 65-66 are nine strokes better than par.

Big Vic Ghezzi, PGA champ from Kansas City, Kan., might have led the parade except for an errant putter. As it is he has third place to himself with 67-65—132.

Starting off only three strokes off the pace is the quartet of Bobby Locke, the golden golfer from Johannesburg, South Africa who overcame early trouble with his driver; Ed Furgol, the Pontiac (Mich.) sharpshooter; Dave Douglas, young Wilmington (Del.) professional who led the field in the first round with 63, and exserviceman Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va.

Thirty additional players have bettered par. So hot was the pace that anything worse than two-over-par at the end of the 36 holes meant elimination.

Counsilman to Swim Here.

James Counsilman, a student at the University of Illinois, will try to break the American record for the 220-yard breaststroke in the men's division of the Ozark A.A.U. allround swimming championships next week end.

On Trust Maturity Choice

13 to Face Starter in Coast Race

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP) —Thirteen candidates and some 60,000 witnesses awaited the inaugural running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Maturity today.

Good, crisp weather and a fast track were promised for this innovation in horse racing—a major stake reserved exclusively for four-year-olds.

Its lush purse obviously designed to lure to Santa Anita each winter the best of the preceding season's three-year-olds, the Maturity offers great possibilities for the future, and stacked up as a thumping good run for the money today.

Today's victor, on the basis of 13 going to the post, stood to collect $83,500, with $20,000 going to the second finisher, $15,000 to third and $10,000 to the fourth. The gross value of the race is $130,600.

Favored at probable odds of two to one, but admittedly in for a battle over the mile and one quarter route, was the California bred chestnut, E. O. Stice and Sons' On Trust.

On Trust packed top weight of 125, a load assessed in view of his top money winnings of $268,720 in winning such stakes as the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby last year, the $50,000 Santa Catalina Handicap here several weeks ago, as well as placing second in the Preakness and fourth in the Kentucky Derby in 1947.

Other names dropped in the entry box yesterday were Triskelion, Brabancon, Miss Kimo, Flashco, Double Jay, Cornish Knight, Wheatfield, Tropical Sea, Stag Night, Lodge Night, Hemet Squaw and Secnav.

Prerace opinion on the leading rivals to On Trust was divided between George W. Stratton's Triskelion, victim of bad breaks but a dangerous colt; two fine Easterners, William G. Helis's Miss Kimo and the Ridgewood Stable's Double Jay, although neither had run to form since arriving here; the speedy Brabacon, if he could go the route, as well as Flashco and Cornish Knight.

Miss Kimo and Hemet Squaw were the only two fillies entered.

Krumske Bowls To Top Spot in Petersen Meet

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Paul Krumske, one of the country's top-ranking bowlers, was the new leader in the Petersen individual bowling classic today with an imposing eight-game score of 1682.

The classy Chicago kegler, who formerly was individual match game champion and once co-holder of the national doubles title, shot into first place last night with the second score above 1600 since the $64,000 tournament opened on Jan. 10.

Krumske's lowest count was 184 in his first game. He followed with 222, 189, 204, 222, 245, 204 and 212, which gave him an average of 210 and a bid for the $5100 first prize in the classic. More than half of the 2650 entered already have competed, with the tourney to continue through Feb. 8.

There was a second newcomer in the first 10 after last night's final shooting. Art Knecht of Detroit, with a 1585 total, took over fourth place, nine pins behind Zig Starr of Detroit, whose 1594 gave him the lead in the early part of the meet. He was replaced last Monday by Pete Nusser of Cleveland who posted a score of 1620.

Behind Knecht were Ed Grassl, Appleton, Wis., and Art Porter, Wilkinsburg, Pa., each with 1583; Dan Bilek, Endicott, N. Y., and Roy Hoegh Jr., Chicago, each 1581; Zeke Tody, Detroit, 1580, and Earle Goodman, Argo, Ill., 1578.

Funeral Services for Pennock Set for Monday

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa., Jan. 31 (AP)—Baseball pays its last respects Monday to one of the game's greatest pitching stars and most beloved executives—Southpaw Herbert J. Pennock.

The 53-year-old general manager of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies died yesterday in New York of a cerebral hemorrhage. He will be buried down in the farm country of Chester county.

It was here that the former portside ace of the Philadelphia Athletics, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees was born Feb. 10, 1894. Here he acquired the familiar title of "Squire of Kennett Square" for his non-baseball pasttimes of hunting and riding the hounds.

Funeral services Monday will be private with only members of the immediate family attending. The Rev. J. Wesley Rennie will officiate. Burial will be in Union Hill Cemetery.

But Pennock's host of baseball friends and his neighbors in this tiny community of 3500 will be permitted to view his body tomorrow afternoon in the American Legion hall here.

Pennock's sudden death stunned the sports world.

Taking over supervision of the Phils in 1943 when young Bob Carpenter assumed ownership, Pennock lifted a club regarded as the "door-mat of the National League" to one that was a dead serious pennant hopeful.

"It is too bad Herb couldn't have lived to see the fruits of his efforts," commented Carpenter. "He devoted the last years of his life to building up a strong organization in Philadelphia."

Pennock collapsed as he entered New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to attend a National League meeting. He never regained consciousness, dying an hour later.

Former teammate Babe Ruth, himself ailing, expressed the words of baseball players the nation over when he said:

"He was a honey as a pitcher and a regular guy in every way. Everybody was crazy about him. I bet Herb never made an enemy in all his life. He was tops."

Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics, the man credited with discovering Pennock, said "he was not only a great pitcher but as a baseball man he was one of the best."

Mack kept Pennock only three years and then sold him to the Red Sox on waivers. He later called this move his greatest mistake in baseball. Pennock pitched 22 years in the majors, winning 240 games and losing 161. He hurled five world series games and won them all.

Eddie Collins, a Boston Red Sox executive whose son, Eddie Jr., married Pennock's daughter, Jane, said "I don't know when any news has affected me as this."

Pennock was the fourth member of the famous New York Yankee teams of the 1920's to die. Preceding him were Manager Miller Huggins, First Baseman Lou Gehrig and Second Baseman Tony Lazzeri.

300 Game for Jung.

Ray Jung entered bowling's Hall of Fame on alleys No. 1 and 2 at the DuBowl Lanes last night when he rolled a perfect game of 300 after hitting 171 and 181 on his first two efforts. It was the fourth perfect game in league play at the DuBowl this season and the twelfth of the campaign in the St. Louis district.

ALL CONSECUTIVE SENTENCE CASES UNDER INQUIRY

Griffin's Order Applies to Terms Imposed Since He Took Office Jan. 1, 1945.

An investigation of all criminal cases in the circuit courts in which consecutive sentences were imposed by the judges was ordered last night by Circuit Attorney James W. Griffin, following the admission by J. Fred Koenig that he had erred in preparing prison commitment papers for a convicted burglar. As a result of the error, Edward Emmett Elder was released on parole from the Missouri State Penitentiary 16 months before he was eligible for parole.

Griffin said the investigation will be made by Assistant Circuit Attorney Thomas E. Dowling, and will include all cases in which consecutive sentences were imposed since Griffin took office Jan. 1, 1945.

If other errors are found in commitment papers of convicts, Griffin said, steps will be taken to correct them immediately. This might mean that some convicts, who received concurrent rather than consecutive sentences, would be eligible for parole. On the other hand, it may mean that some who are on parole will have to return to serve the remainder of their terms.

Koenig, former chief clerk in the office of Anton Schuler, clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, and a convicted black market liquor operator, walked into Schuler's office yesterday and said the error on the commitment papers of Elder was his mistake.

Elder and his brother-in-law, Raymond Montgomery, also a former convict, formed a partnership following his release from prison last August, and admitted to police they had obtained $50,000 in 50 or 60 burglaries here since that time.

Koenig said he had signed the commitment papers with Schuler's name, a common practice in the office. "I probably signed 20 or 30 of them that day," he said, "because it was an arraignment day in the courts."

In addition to the commitment papers, he examined also the court record from Division No. 12, which stated correctly that Elder had been sentenced to two three-year terms to run consecutively, or six years. The error on the commitment papers was that they said he was to serve two three-year terms to run concurrently, or a single three-year term.

"It's just an unintentional mistake," Koenig said. "I don't know Elder and never heard of him until I saw his name in the newspapers."

In the course of attempting to solve some unsolved burglaries yesterday, police were told by Elder and Montgomery that they got about $3000 in cash and some jewelry from a house at 4256 Humphrey street. Records showed no report of a burglary had been reported by occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. John Steiner. After questioning Mrs. Steiner, however, she said $2600 had been taken, but she did not report its loss for fear the news would cause her husband, who has been ill, to have a stroke.

AFL HEADS CHARGE RUSSIA PREPARES FOR OFFENSIVE WAR

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor bluntly accused Soviet Russia last night of deliberately antagonizing the United States and of preparing for an offensive war.

The statement was the first direct attack on a foreign power by an American labor group. It called also for an immediate strengthening of United States defenses.

AFL President William Green and the 15-member policy-making executive council asserted the forces of Generalissimo Stalin believe that once the American way of life is destroyed, there will be no effective resistance of "complete Communist enslavement."

"Intoxicated by their strength and dictatorial power," the statement said, "the Soviet leaders are still shrewd enough to realize that they cannot hope as yet to challenge the United States in open warfare. That is why they are waging a cold war and concentrating for the time being on capturing control of the remaining free nations of Europe.

"Each step in this direction is a step toward eventual war against the United States. That is what the Marshall plan is designed to prevent. And that is why Russia is so desperately trying to undermine the European recovery program."

PETRILLO APPROVES LIVE MUSIC PLANS OF FM NETWORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Continental network of frequency modulation stations has received James C. Petrillo's approval to go ahead with plans for a full schedule of live music.

Petrillo and the AFL American Federation of Musicians' executive board gave a go-ahead to Continental last night after a conference with the network president, Everett L. Dillard of Washington. The FM Eastern regional network of 29 stations now originates its programs from Washington and Rochester, N. Y.

The action was a quick follow-up to Thursday's announcement that the union would lift its bar on FM duplication of standard musical radio programs Sunday. This will make it possible for FM stations to carry all programs broadcast on the standard radio networks. The lifting of the bar was part of an agreement between Petrillo and the four major standard networks extending their contract for 60 days beyond its expiration at midnight tonight.

Congressional Group in Report Urges Greatly-Expanded U. S. Broadcasts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Twelve Congressmen who as a committee toured 22 European countries last fall agreed today that the "Voice of America" abroad should be one that can really be heard.

Representative Mundt (Rep.), South Dakota, chairman, said he would ask Congress to vote $55,000,000 for the purpose. Specifically, he wants $5,000,000 to finance United States information and education work in foreign countries through June, and $50,000,000 more to carry it through the fiscal year beginning July 1. President Truman signed a bill authorizing the program Tuesday.

The committee of seven House and fine Senate members, reporting to Congress, said they found the information service now "to be only a whisper." The British are doing three times as much as we are, they added, and the Russians are spending "hundreds of millions."

"It is clear that we cannot win this war of words with the Soviets, and gain European confidence in our policies, without a greatly augmented and expanded information service," the committee declared. "It is also probable that only by winning this word war can we protect the peace."

1. Regular news reports radioed directly to United States missions in foreign countries for newspapers there, plus information to refute charges made against the United States.

2. Wide distribution of news and feature photographs abroad.

3. Supplying of newsprint to "foreign publications friendly to us" at commercial rates "or even gratis."

4. Allocation of money "to encourage the publication of American material by the foreign press" and to pay "selected free-lance writers" to write for foreign distribution.

Senator Lodge (Rep.), Massachusetts, in a separate report advocated greater use abroad of men experienced in journalism, politics, and public speaking.

LEISERSON HEADS FACT-FINDING BOARD IN RAIL DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman yesterday named Dr. William M. Leiserson of Washington chairman of an emergency fact-finding board to inquire into the wage dispute between major railroads and 125,000 operating workers. Leiserson is a former chairman of the National Mediation Board and a former member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Truman named to serve with him George Edward Bushnell, a justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, and William Willard Wirtz of Winetka, Ill., former chairman of the National Wage Stabilization Board.

A strike had been set for Feb. 1 when President Truman stepped into the case last Tuesday. Under the Railway Labor Act his intervention bars a strike for 60 days. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, and the AFL Switchmen of North America are the labor unions involved. They are demanding a 30 per cent pay increase and changes in working rules.

ILLINOIS TERMINAL ROAD GETS 4 NEW DIESELS, 5 MORE ON WAY

Four of nine new diesel locomotives ordered by the Illinois Terminal Railroad for use in the St. Louis terminal area have been shipped by the American Locomotive Co., the railroad announced today.

The new locomotives will replace steam engines in the St. Louis-East St. Louis terminal and will also be used for road work on the Illinois Terminal's steam lines. The five additional locomotives on order are scheduled for delivery within 90 days, it was announced.

Acquisition of the diesel locomotives is in line with pledges made by railroads that steam-powered engines would be replaced to cut the smoke nuisance on the East Side. The Illinois Terminal Railroad operates a steam belt line around East St. Louis and into St. Louis. Its lines between St. Louis and north-central Illinois cities are electrically operated.

BLACK MARKETERS GETTING READY, SAY MEAT MEN

Outsiders Preparing for Return of Rationing, Say Witnesses.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two meat industry representatives said today black market operators are already preparing for a return of meat rationing.

R. G. Eggert, speaking for the American Meat Institute, told a Senate banking subcommittee that fears of a serious meat shortage are unfounded and said: "We have had reports at the institute of fices that black market operators are trying to buy back plants they sold after the war. Prices were so high that just the anticipation (of rationing) has stirred up a lot of interest."

Chairman Flanders (Rep.), Vermont, of the subcommittee, read into the record similar testimony from Jay C. Hormel, chairman of the board of the George A. Hormel & Co. meat packing firm at Austin, Minn. Hormel's letter said in part: "Already we find potential black market operators negotiating for facilities and for livestock supplies."

Eggert told the subcommittee: "The supply of meat per person next spring will be about one half an ounce less than last year, but there will be more meat per person during this period than before the war."

The Agriculture Department has forecast that a severe shortage will develop in the spring and grow worse during the summer. The subcommittee is considering a bill by Flanders which would let the Government get ready for meat rationing. It would be up to Congress to decide whether to put the program into effect later.

ICC SUSPENDS CHANGE IN RAIL FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has directed the railroads to continue to figure the permanent freight rate increases of 1947 on a basis of total length of haul, pending a hearing on March 23.

The action was taken through an order suspending a proposed revision of the railroads' so-called "rule seven" in the carriers' tariff schedules. The revision was to have become effective at midnight.

Rule seven covers the application of the rate increases of Jan. 1, 1947, when the commission authorized a general rate advance of about 17 per cent, but specified dollars and cents maximums for numerous commodities.

Shippers in several parts of the country have complained to ICC that where the authorized increase on a given commodity is 20 cents, and the commodity is to be hauled in two freight territories, each having a 60-cent rate, the railroads could add 20 cents to each segment of the trip and collect $1.60 instead of the $1.40 billing which would result from a single application of the 20-cent increase to the whole trip.

ANTARCTIC VOLCANO POURS OUT SMOKE AND STEAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (UP)—The Navy's Antarctic expedition has reported that the region's only known volcano, Mount Erebus, has erupted smoke and steam but not lava from its half-mile wide crater.

The Navy said that, so far as it knew, the last time the volcano was seen in action was in 1911.

Dispatches from the U.S.S. Burton Island, one of the two icebreakers currently serving the Antarctic coastline, said that as the ship arrived in McMurdo Sound near Ross Island, smoke and steam poured from the 13,200-foot peak. The volcano forms the summit of Ross Island.

RETAIL PRICES RISE 1.3 PCT. IN MONTH, REACH NEW HIGH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (UP)—The Department of Labor reported last night that consumers' retail prices rose 1.3 per cent from mid-November to Dec. 15 and had reached a new high 67 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

Higher prices for all groups of living essentials accounted for the new record, the department said. It computed the price rise between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15 for food as 2.1 per cent; clothing 0.5 per cent; house furnishings 1.3 per cent; miscellaneous 1 per cent; fuel and electricity 0.7 per cent, and rents "continued to rise slowly."

21 DEAD IN LOSS OF 2 U.S. PLANES IN FRENCH ALPS

Sergeant Only Survivor in Crash of Transport, Search Craft—3 Women, 5 Children Killed.

DIGNE, France, Jan. 31 (AP)—Discovery of 12 bodies in the wreckage of an Air Force transport today brought to 21 the total known dead in two United States airplane crashes in southern France.

Reports reached here that searchers had found the bodies of three American women, five children and four crewmen where the first plane fell. The crash occurred near a village in the French Alps. The craft was a C-47.

The second plane, a B-17 Flying Fortress, went down and exploded on a search for the transport. Police said one man in its crew of 10 survived.

The twin-engined transport had been missing since Tuesday on a flight from Istres airbase, near Marseille, to Udine, Italy. It was taking the women and children toward Trieste to join their husbands and fathers, servicemen.

Ground searchers reached the wreckage of both planes yesterday. They brought out only one survivor. He is Sgt. Angelo A. LaSalle of Des Moines, Ia. LaSalle suffered partly frozen legs, bruises and internal injuries.

One other crewman was reported to have been found alive in the Flying Fortress but he died while being brought to Digne. The crew was composed of four officers and six enlisted men.

LaSalle credited a German prisoner of war, who was working for a French farmer near the scene of the crash, with saving his life. LaSalle said he was thrown clear by the crash, his shoes torn by the impact. He related that the German found him in the snow, gave him his shoes, hat and coat, wrapped a blanket around him and helped carry him down the mountainside.

The search plane had reported sighting wreckage of the transport plane shortly before the B-17 itself crashed. The wreckage was in a high valley near Cheval Blanc Mountain, 12 miles northwest of Digne. The Fortress crashed 20 miles east of here.

The United States Air Force listed the pilot of the transport as Lt. Earl E. Baskin of Florence, S.C., and its co-pilot as Second Lt. Terrvel H. Trexler of Dunn, N.C. The crew chief was listed as S. Sgt. Donald L. Climmers of Dumont, Ia., and the radio operator as Cpl. Robert M. Hermanoski of Nanticoke, Pa.

Passengers killed in the wreck of the transport have been identified as Mrs. Rosaline Noak, Worcester, N.Y., and her three children, Gifford Jr., 6, Mary, 3, and Verna, 2; Mrs. Shirley G. Martin, Colombia, S.C., and her son, Benjamin Jr., and Mrs. Garnette B. Saunders, Memphis, Tenn., and her son, William, 3.

Meanwhile, it was announced that a French plane, which joined in the search for the transport last Wednesday, has failed to return to its base at Istres airfield and is presumed lost.

In still another air tragedy in the area, a Royal Air Force Lancaster bomber on a routine training flight from the Middle East crashed just outside Istres airport today and six of the 14 men aboard were killed.

SEARCH IS PRESSED FOR BRITISH PLANE

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 31 (AP) — Some 30 planes searched the stormy Atlantic around Bermuda today for a British airliner missing with 29 persons aboard, including Sir Arthur Coningham, British World War II leader.

Rescue planes already have covered 68,000 square miles in quest of the four-engined Star Tiger of the British South American Airways. Veteran flyers called the search mission the greatest ever conducted from Bermuda.

The plane last was heard from at 1 a.m. yesterday when it was 440 miles northeast of Bermuda. It had been due at Kindley Field at 10:30 o'clock the night before, but radioed that it would be late because of headwinds.

An airline official said the ship carried 23 passengers and six crewmen. The pilot was Capt. David Colby of England.

Rescue pilots said flying conditions were "far from ideal." They reported seas between 30 and 40 feet high. Clouds hampered visibility.

J. W. Booth, chairman of the B.S.A.A. here, said last night there was a "fair chance" of finding at least some of the passengers. He told reporters the plane might be able to remain afloat long enough for those aboard to get into liferafts. Poor visibility, he said, might explain failure of search pilots to see any rafts.

Airmen believed the ship might have missed Bermuda because of the storm. The plane had refueled at Santa Maria in the Azores.

BRITISH ANNOUNCE HANGINGS OF 10 REICH REFUGEES

BERLIN, Jan. 31 (UP)—Ten displaced persons from behind the iron curtain have been hanged for murder in the British zone, it was announced today, setting the stage for another violent disagreement with Russia when the Allied Control Council meets this afternoon.

Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky was disclosed yesterday to have dispatched a protest to Gen. Lucius D. Clay on trials and sentences of Soviet refugees in the American zone.

The letter, published in the Soviet Army newspaper Taegliche Rundschau, demanded that the sentences be suspended and that Russia be furnished a list of all those sentenced and the reasons therefor.

An announcement by British authorities at Hamburg did not refer to the Soviet protest but said merely that 10 persons had been hanged at Hameln for murder, the illegal use of firearms and other acts of violence.

The refugees were said to have originated from Poland, Yugoslavia and the Baltic countries, all now behind the Soviet iron curtain in eastern Europe. One, a Lithuanian, was said to have murdered his wife.

The meeting of the Control Council was scheduled to have been held yesterday, but it was postponed until today at the request of Sokolovsky.

Sokolovsky charged that 208 Russian citizens, brought to Germany as slave laborers by the Germans, were being held in the city of Straubing. Thirty had been sentenced to death, 68 to life imprisonment and the rest to 10 to 50 years in prison, the letter said.

American Military Government officials at Munich said all the Russians held at Straubing had been sentenced by military courts for rape, murder, robbery and other crimes.

Among the prisoners held now are 23 who claim to be Russians, officials said. Another 14 claim to be Ukrainians and there are a number of Balts.

COST OF SELLING WAR SURPLUS IS ABOUT HALF OF RECEIPTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The cost of selling war surplus now amounts to about half the receipts, the War Assets Administration reported today.

Administrator Jess Larson told Congress he still has to get rid of goods which cost the Government about $7,472,000,000 new. He expects the job to be pretty well finished about June 30.

Disposal costs, which amounted to 25.7 per cent of the money taken in during 1947, rose to 49 per cent in the final quarter. The reason, Larson said, is that WAA's stocks are down to the not-so-choice and the "white elephant" items.

WIDOW, 77, DIES OF EXPOSURE

Mrs. Lena Wright, 77-year-old widow, died yesterday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville, where she was taken Wednesday after being found semi-conscious and with both legs frozen in her home, 316 North Fifth street, Belleville. Physicians said death was due to exposure.

Police said Mrs. Wright suffered a heart attack, apparently on Tuesday, and lay in the unheated house until found by neighbors.

STOCKS SLOW, MIXED, PRICE CHANGE NARROW

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—It was a case of quiet selectivity in today's stock market with individual favorites exhibiting a certain amount of strength while many leaders continued to falter.

The ticker tape loafed from the start. While there were a few gains of as much as a point, both declines and advances, on the whole, held to minor fractions near the close. Numerous pivotals were unchanged. Transfers for the two hours were 290,000 shares.

Timid bidding was based partly on the idea that the recent technical correction of the drop to average lows since last June could be extended. Good dividends and earnings propped some issues but were ignored by others concerned. Cloudy foreign situations, in addition to doubts regarding business later in the year, inspired the trimming of accounts here and there. Some professionals cashed in on the week's substantial recovery.

Western Union was a relatively active climber on hopes that a spring strike had been averted. A dividend aided Elastic Stop Nut. Attracting bids were Dow Chemical, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil (N. J.), Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, duPont, American Smelting and General Motors.

Stumbling at intervals were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Caterpillar Tractor, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, J. C. Penney, Wilson & Co., Gulf Oil, Illinois Central, Soithern Pacific and New York Central.

In the curb Lionel Corp. responded to an extra dividend of 70 cents. Bought were McCord Corp., Standard Oil of Kentucky, American Gas and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Hesitant were Aireon, American Potash, Cities Service and Clinchfield Coal.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

A few rails at time managed gains of fractions and in some cases a point, outweighing occasional small losers. Industrials and utilities were on the quiet side but the undertone was steady. There were no dealings in Government bonds.

There was not much variations in prices of foreign dollar bonds.

COTTON OFF 60C TO UP 5C

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cotton futures moved over a narrow range today. Trading was quiet as most dealers adopted a waiting policy, pending fresh developments in the export situation.

EXPORT ALLOCATIONS DELAYED, WHEAT OFF

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Weakness continued to predominate in grain futures pits today, although there were occasional rallies from the low points.

Wheat was off around 3 cents at times on selling apparently inspired by trade disappointment over delay in announcement of March export allocations, and further beneficial snow in the winter wheat belt. Buying by cash interests on breaks forced prices upward slightly at times.

Corn fell with wheat, but some buying was inspired by reports distillers might enter the market for supplies shortly, since many are expected to increase operations next week. The distant September and December contracts showed independent strength.

Soybeans fell the 8-cent limit at times due to commission house selling and a lack of processor demand.

More snow fell in Nebraska and some parts of the Southwestern winter wheat belt. It also was snowing today in parts of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. This snow is beneficial to the crop, since it provides a protective covering in case of temperature drops.

Mid-January parity prices announced late yesterday were higher for principal farm crops than the mid-December levels. At $2.22, the parity price for wheat was up 5 cents a bushel. While the loan rate for the new wheat crop will not be fixed until about the middle of the year, trade authorities said the current parity level indicates a national average of $2 and a Chicago rate of about $2.27.

Leading whisky distillers are expected to resume full operations Monday, when the Taft anti-inflation law restrictions on their use of grain will end.

Wheat closed 1 cent lower to ¾ cent higher, May $2.88¼@2.88; corn was ⅛ cent down to 2¼ cents up, May $2.52¼@⅜; oats were unchanged to 1⅛ cents lower, May $1.21⅝@⅜, and soybeans were down 5 to 8 cents, March $4.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 31—Cash grain market Saturday: Corn receipts 30 cars, 1 sold; yellow No. 5, $2.40. Wheat receipts 15 cars, none sold. Oats receipts 3, none sold.

JUDGE MODIFIES GEORGIA ORDER ON PHONE RATE RISE

Bars Immediate Hike on Long Distance Tolls — Refuses to Cancel $4,000,000 Increase.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 31 (AP)—Superior Court Judge Bond Almand refused today to dissolve a court order permitting a $4,000,000 telephone rate increase in Georgia. He modified his order, however, to prevent an immediate rise in long distance tolls.

Judge Almand set Monday for hearing a State Public Service Commission motion to dissolve his decision of yesterday to permit telephone rate increases beyond those approved by the commission.

The judge said he could not vacate his original temporary restraining order now, because he must give the company a hearing.

The motion for dissolution of the original order contended that state statutes contemplate notice to parties involved before an injunction of such paramount public importance is granted.

In his decision yesterday, Judge Almand permitted the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to put into effect tomorrow (Sunday) a new schedule of rates boosting revenue by $4,000,000 annually. The commission, after 15 months' investigation, had granted the company only $1,412,423.

Commission counsel contended to Judge Almand today that if long distance toll rates requested by the company are permitted, effective tomorrow, the public would have no means of obtaining refunds if rates subsequently are lowered.

New subscriber rates permitted under Almand's order will increase residential telephone bills 50 cents monthly in all Georgia cities served by Southern Bell, and 65 cents in Atlanta. Last Saturday's commission order allowed the increase only in Atlanta, where the rise would have been 25 cents monthly. New business telephone increases range from $2.75 in the largest cities to $1 in the smallest exchanges.

The court order set a bond of $1,000,000 for refunds by Southern Bell to its subscribers should the temporarily increased rates not be upheld. The bond was posted with Deputy Clerk Charles Paschal.

McDonald termed the bond "inadequate." He said the increases would result in additional $4,000,000 collections by the company, while the commission order allowed an increase of $1,412,473.

Thus, he said, the company might be called on to refund about $2,500,000 if it loses its case after 12 months of litigation.

MAN KILLED WHEN ENGINE JUMPS TRACK, HITS 2 AUTOS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Robert E. Leffler of Indianapolis was killed and six others were injured early today by a Pennsylvania switch engine which jumped the track and struck two automobiles waiting at crossing here.

Five of the six, all from Indianapolis, were released after treatment at a hospital. The engineer, Morris Rees, 48 years old, of Indianapolis, was kept in the hospital for treatment of a dislocated arm.

Police said that after leaving the track the engine missed the first auto stopped at the crossing, grazed a car behind it and toppled onto the next two machines. The dead man was pinned in the wreckage.

The engineer told police he was traveling 10 miles an hour at the time and "didn't know why the engine jumped the track." Injured included the fireman and five occupants of the automobiles.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Hail and Farewell.

Augustus Alexander, 21 years old, was one of a class of 17 ex-service men who had completed their grade school education. He rushed from the Illinois Research Hospital to the school's auditorium, barely in time to receive his diploma.

The child, his first, did not make him the leading father of the class. When Kessler Polk, 34, received his diploma, his wife and six children stood up and cheered.

The Way Out.

MASON, Mich. — A starving cocker spaniel puppy was rescued from a deserted home after it had chewed a hole in the gable end of the second floor and made an opening large enough to get its head out. Its whines brought rescuers. The former owners of the house said they knew nothing of the animal and it apparently had wandered in after they left.

Police Star No. 1.

Then followed a month of questions like this: "Who are you, the commissioner's nephew?"

Topinska has turned the star in for a much higher one. He got tired of answering questions about it.

BRITISH POSITION BRINGS CRISIS FOR U.N. ON PALESTINE

Britain late yesterday informed the U.N. Palestine Commission:

1. No Jewish or Arab militias could be organized in the Holy Land until after Britain terminated its mandate there May 15.

2. The commission itself should not enter Palestine until two weeks before that date.

3. Britain would not comply with the U.N. plan for turning over the administration of Palestine piece-meal.

Observers expressed the belief the British position would make it virtually impossible to carry out the General Assembly's plan to divide Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish countries.

The British policy provides that the U.N. would beecome responsible for the defense of Palestine on the day the mandate is ended. But, at the same time, it provides that no military force may be organized in Palestine until that date.

Cadogan States Stand.

British representative, Sir Alexander Cadogan, who outlined his Government's position, said Britain could not guarantee the safety of the commission if it arrived more than two weeks before termination of the mandate.

After the mandate is ended, he said, British troops will resist armed attack from outside Palestine only if it is construed as an attack on British forces still withdrawing from the country.

This was regarded as extremely serious in view of recent Arab League statements that the Arab countries were prepared to march armies into Palestine as soon as Britain pulled out.

Cadogan also informed the commission Britain could not aid a U.N. boundary commission to work out the exact boundaries of the proposed new Jewish and Arab countries on the scene before termination of the mandate.

He said, however, that re[illegible]it-ment of personnel for provisional councils of government in the proposed countries could begin at once with the understanding they could not function until Britain gave up the mandate.

Help Sought by Jews.

The General Assembly partition plan included provisions for both Jewish and Arab militias. The Arabs have refused to have anything to do with the commission, but the Jewish Agency has pressed for help in forming a militia of 30,0000 to 35,000 men. The commission decided only this week that the militia should be formed as soon as possible.

The commission pointed out that the Assembly, in voting to partition Palestine into Jewish and Arab states, asked Britain to turn over its administration "progressively" to the Palestine Commission. Cadogan said this meant that after the mandate ended, British troops would withdraw gradually, and the Palestine Commission could take over gradually.

AMERICAN FIGHTERS TO LOSE PASSPORTS

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31 (UP)—The United States State Department has ordered that all American citizens taking an active part in the Jewish-Arab fighting in Palestine shall be deprived of their United States passports, the consulate announced yesterday.

The order was aimed specifically at some 65 "G.I. Bill of Rights" students in Palestine who are reported to have joined the Jewish Hagana "defense army," but it included all United States citizens fighting on either side in the "partition war."

Some sources estimated that as many as 2000 Americans have joined the Jewish forces. There have been no reports of Americans fighting on the Arab side.

The consulate announcement said that persons deprived of passports could get them back for the purpose of returning to the United States. The order was apparently intended to prevent active fighters from claiming immunity as American citizens.

The consulate announcement came as two Jews and one Arab were killed and eight Jews and one Arab were wounded in 24 hours of fighting.

OIL EXPORT QUOTA CUT FOR SECOND TIME THIS MONTH

Steel Industry Is Asked to Set Aside Part of Output for Well Equipment, Railroad Cars.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Department of Commerce clamped down today on oil exports for the second time this month, to ease the severe fuel shortage at home.

The quota for oil exports for the first three months of this year was cut 18½ per cent late yesterday, from 11,850,000 barrels to 9,650,000. This compares with the original quota of 17,000,000 barrels for the quarter.

The department said this country would also supply only 100,000 of the 1,600,000 barrels it had intended to ship to Japan and the Ryukyu islands. The rest will be obtained outside of the United States.

Bills have been introduced in the House and Senate to stop all shipments abroad except those going to United States military forces.

Limiting Licenses.

The Department of Commerce explained it would also limit licenses for the overseas shipments of petroleum to exports from those areas of this country "where the fuel can best be spared during this emergency period." It explained this means that if an oil company wants to ship from New England, where oil supplies are short, the license will be denied. But the firm could ship from California.

The total saving will be 3,700,000 barrels. The country's average daily consumption is about 5,300,000 barrels.

To deal with steel shortages, Secretary of Commerce Harriman asked the industry last night to parcel out about 10 per cent of production on a high priority basis to the oil, freight car, farm machinery and home building industries.

The system will be voluntary. Harriman said it still will leave plenty of steel for automobile makers and other manufacturers.

Steel Scrap Drive.

Harriman announced also that a nation-wide steel scrap drive would be launched, similar to those during the war. About 15 trade associations throughout the country have agreed to sponsor the collection drive.

In another related development, the Department of Commerce ordered new limitations on the use of tin for cans of beer, animal food, coffee and paint—provided Congress permits federal controls to continue past the Feb. 29 expiration date. If Congress does not approve, the order will not be effective.

The tin savings of 2750 tons proposed under the order would be diverted to the national defense stockpile. Two hundred tons have been saved already through reduction of export quotas for the April-May-June quarter.

Palestine Fighting Reported Disrupting Oil Output.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—An oil company officer said today Jewish-Arab fighting has disrupted oil production in the Middle East, and any new strife will throw an "impossible load" on petroleum resources in the Americas.

The statement was made before the House Commerce Committee by James Terry Duce, vice president of the Arabian-American Oil Co. The committee is investigating oil supplies, and Duce's firm operates oil wells in Saudi Arabia. Duce said Middle East oil is "absolutely essential" to success of the European recovery plan.

KRUG SAYS PLANNED BUILDING DEFACES CONSTITUTION AVE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Krug has stirred up an architectural storm that threatened to rival the uproar over President Truman's back porch.

Krug yesterday called a proposed $1,500,000 annex to the Pan-American building a "deplorable defacement of Constitution avenue." Excavation already has been started for the building, across the street from the Interior Department. Krug's office windows look squarely into what would be the back door of the new building.

Krug wrote his protest to Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and Gilmore D. Clarke, chairman of the Commission of Fine Arts. A Krug aid said the building line would extend toward Constitution avenue 107 feet beyond the line of the adjoining buildings of the Public Health Service, Federal Reserve Bank and National Academy of Sciences. These are set back 214 feet from Constitution avenue.

MASSACHUSETTS GAS PLANT SEIZED TO AVERT WALKOUT

BOSTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—One of the country's largest gas producing plants, threatened with a strike by 900 employes, was seized yesterday by Gov. Robert F. Bradford in the name of the state under a 1947 Massachusetts law.

The Governor said he acted because approximately 1,500,000 residents of 34 Greater Boston cities and towns would be without gas if the plant was shut down by a strike.

A Superior court injunction announced simultaneously with the Governor's order barred employes from engaging in any concerted action to interfere with the company's facilities. Bradford said union representatives had assured him, after the order was given, that no stoppage of work was contemplated.

Killer of Officer Hanged.

GANDHI CREMATED ON FUNERAL PYRE IGNITED BY SON

The Mahatma's ashes are to remain at the pyre for a day and a half. Then they are to be gathered and taken to the River Ganges—sacred to his Hindu faith—and thrown into the waters in the manner traditional with Hindus.

India was gripped with fear of what may come in the wake of the 78-year-old Gandhi's violent death. Rioting in Bombay, which took 15 lives yesterday, flared again, and in Poona the office of an extremist Hindu newspaper was burned. Rioting also was reported at Kolahpur.

Poona crowds attacked the property of persons known to have opposed Gandhi. Tilak Memorial Hall was set afire as crowds searched for anyone possibly connected with the assassin, Narayan Vinayak Gadse, an extremist Hindu editor from Poona.

Great Funeral Procession.

The funeral procession to the River Jumma was tumultuous. At one point, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was reported to have rescued a woman endangered by the crush. Women fainted in the tremendous jam of people. Children collapsed under foot. Men bled from wounds inflicted by the flailing sticks of those fighting for a view of the procession.

Hour by hour the crowd grew along the five-mile route from Birla House to the river, until tens of thousands of Indians milled about in turmoil, ceaselessly shouting the name of the Mahatma. The cry "Victory to Gandhi!" rang out frequently above the clamor.

People crowded the rooftops, clung precariously on the walls, pushed into any possible vantage point along the line of march as the procession crept ahead.

A large force of Gurkha infantry with rifles slow-marched at the head of the procession, which grew constantly as spectators fell in at the end. The great mass of humanity pressed toward the river amid wails of lamentation. Every hundred yards or so the procession was forced to halt.

All-Night Vigil by Crowd.

All through the night a great crowd had kept a reverent vigil outside Birla House. As the sun broke through the morning mist, long files of the people passed into Birle House and through the open door of the room where Gandhi lay on a rose-strewn bier.

The body of Gandhi had been bathed during the night in accordance with Hindu tradition. At 4 a.m., a simple prayer service was conducted in the flickering light of castor oil lamps, burning constantly to light the way of the Mahatma to heaven according to Hindu beliefs.

The room was heavy with the scent of roses. Gandhi's relatives and his close friends sat around the bier, chanting from the scriptures of the Hindu, Mohammedan and Christian religions the passages best loved by the departed "Saint of India." The women sang simple hymns he had loved.

On the pallet on which he used to sleep lay the Mahatma's body, his face austere in death. A white robe was drawn up to the throat. The door of the room was thrown open at 5 a.m. to admit the people in a long single file, after their night of vigil.

Disorder in Crowd Outside.

Before the procession started, disorder broke out in crowds that clamored until they were given a look at the body outside Birla House, home of a millionaire industrialist friend of Gandhi. Women and children were trampled. Three men were treated for stick blows on their heads.

The crowd twice smashed military lines. Finally the body on a wooden cot and covered with a white robe, was shown from a second-floor balcony. It lay there three-quarters of an hour. Then four men, traditional in Hindu funerals, carried the cot indoors.

Just before noon the frail body was placed on the platform atop the automobile. It was draped in the three-color flag of the free India that Gandhi, more than any other man, helped to bring about.

Prime Minister Nehru and Deputy Prime Minister Sardar Vallabhai Patel rode close behind the body as the guard of honor.

Eight members of the Governor General's body guard and armored fighting vehicles led the procession, clearing the way for it. A moving line of husky soldiers, their hands locked to form a chain along each side of the road, edged along with the procession to prevent the people from passing through. The dense masses showered flowers from the sidewalks, windows and housetops as the funeral car passed by on the circuitous route to the river.

India, whose people are mostly Hindu, and Pakistan, Moslem led, joined in tribute to Gandhi. He was the leader in the long struggle to free the subcontinent from the British Empire. His efforts finally were successful with creation of the two dominions last Aug. 15.

The Pakistan Government, with its capital in Karachi, closed all central and provincial Government offices for today. Business ceased in Karachi, Lahore, Peshawar and other big Pakistan towns.

The Pakistan radio gave its whole news broadcast last night to information on Gandhi and his life.

Gandhi's Words Before Death.

Meanwhile, Manu Gandhi, a granddaughter of a brother of Gandhi, revealed that the Mahatma may have had a premonition of death. Retiring Thursday night, Gandhi said to her: "This is a strange world. How long can one be at the game?"

Rising early yesterday, Gandhi said to his personal attendant: "Bring me all my important papers. I must reply today. Tomorrow may never be."

The 18-year-old Manu, who was with Gandhi when he was shot, last night gave this description of his death:

"The Mahatma was ascending the steps leading to his prayer platform in the garden when a man suddenly broke through the rows of the congregation and bent before him. Assuming that he was trying to wipe the dust from the Bapu's (father's) face, I tried to get him to go away because Gandhi might trip. I caught his left hand.

"The man pushed me aside and started shooting. The first shot hit Gandhi in the abdomen. Gandhi chanted: "'Ram! Ram!' (Oh God! Oh God!)

"Two more shots followed quickly. They went straight through his heart. Gandhi fell back. His spectacles dangled and his sandals fell off. His spectacles and sandals have not since been found.

"The blood gushed from his abdomen and heart. He lost consciousness completely as he was carried toward the villa. Twenty minutes after he was taken in he breathed his last."

Elaboration by B.B.C. Man.

Robert Stimson, British Broadcasting Corporation correspondent, elaborating on the story he gave yesterday, said:

"For a few seconds (after Gandhi fell) no one could believe what had happened; everyone seemed dazed and numb, and then a young American who had come for prayers rushed forward and seized the shoulders of the man (assassin) in the khaki coat. That broke the spell.

"There was a terrible cry of anguish—a wailing lament—from the crowd. Half a dozen people stooped to lift Gandhi. Others hurled themselves on the attacker. I saw flailing arms beating his head and shoulders, and soon there was blood on his face. He was overpowered and taken away.

FRENCH CALL-IN OF 5000-FRANC NOTES IS BEGUN

Banks Ordered to Remain Open Over Weekend to Collect Them—Gold Trade Near.

PARIS. Jan. 31 (AP)—French banks, postoffices and tax collectors today began taking in 5000-franc notes, no longer legal tender. Gold seemed about to go on the free market.

The notes must be turned in by Tuesday. After that they will be no good. The collection follows action by Parliament.

The Finance Ministry said last night owners of the bills would be repaid. But a ministry source said persons who can't show legal sources for their holdings face either confiscation or loss of a high percentage of the amount held.

Approximately 66,000,000 notes of the 5000-franc denomination have been in circulation. They are worth, at the new rate of exchange (214 francs to the dollar), about $23.50 each, or, all told, some $1,540,000,000.

Banks were ordered to remain open all day today and Sunday.

The move to block holding of notes of large denomination was aimed at catching black market operators and hoarders, said to hold half of all such bills.

Not since Sept. 9, 1939, has gold been exchanged legally in France. When World War II was a week old a decree was issued forbidding all sales and trading of gold.

The National Assembly supported the last phase of Premier Robert Schuman's money program last night when it approved the bill for a free gold market. By this bill the Government hopes to lure out hoarded gold and make possible its use in purchasing imports.

The gold bill must be approved by the Council of the Republic before it becomes a law. It was believed generally that this approval was a virtual certainty.

The free gold bill means that Frenchmen with hidden assets in gold and foreign money, either here or abroad, can sell them in an uncontrolled market on paying a 25 per cent fine. Such assets long ago had been ordered turned in at Government prices.

In calling for the 5000-franc notes, the Government told the head of each family to bring in notes for all his dependents. He was promised a receipt. The Government has not yet fixed the means of redeeming the notes.

A police order today opened the Paris stock market, closed by the Government Thursday to prevent speculation during parliamentary debate on the bills.

VOTE SCANDAL NOT CLEARED BY DISMISSALS, KEM SAYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Senator Kem (Rep.), Missouri, told the Senate yesterday that dismissal of 66 Kansas City vote fraud indictments in Missouri does not finally clear up the case.

"I hope this action will not mislead anyone into thinking the Kansas City, Mo., vote scandals are cleared up," he said. "That is by no means the case."

Placing a newspaper story on dismissal of the indictments in the Congressional Record, Kem said: "I can well understand the reason for dismissing these indictments because they were based on ballots now stolen which are not susceptible to proof."

He added however that "the Attorney General has never satisfactorily explained his gross failure to act as the duties of his office require. The Kansas City, Mo., vote scandals still remain a blot on fair elections."

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

WHEN I married, my husband was the most devoted husband anyone could wish for. He has remained so after 15 years of marriage. But there is something about him I cannot understand—he teases me constantly, as my brothers used to. If he did this privately I wouldn't care so much, but instead it is always in public. In private he will tell me how pretty I am, that I look years younger than the wives of any of his friends, that he loves me more than when we married. In public he makes fun of me, swears I never cook him decent meals, talks about my extravagances. We both came off a farm originally and he will tell how I never had any dress but one made of flour sacking until he married me. Every bit of this made up, of course. I am getting a little weary of this teasing and know the people we meet must be bored by it. Why does he act this silly way? It doesn't get a rise out of me since I grew up in a boarding school, and had three brothers who teased me constantly during vacations just so I wouldn't forget how to take it. What can I do to remedy this uncomfortable situation?

TIRED OF IT.

It is quite likely that your husband's habit of joshing you in public springs from embarrassment and self-consciousness. It may be that he feels so ill at ease in a crowd that he can't think of a thing to talk about. So he falls back on teasing you. Perhaps in the beginning his obviously false statements, particularly in the face of your poise and refusal to give rise to the bait and put on a scene, may have amused the onlookers. But surely by now your husband has gained sufficient poise himself not to fall back on this little parlor trick which he and the entire company can well do without. Talk the matter over with him. Point out that he's surely grown-up enough not to have to resort to this kind of thing to keep the conversation going, or the attention centered on the two of you. Surely he doesn't want people pitying you for having such an unkind and gauche husband when in reality he is an admiring and loving one.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Thankful": Possibly your mother thinks you are too young, but most girls get into a nice teen-age group at about your age or even a little earlier. Surely she wants you to have the same good times the others do. Talk the matter over with your mother. Maybe she would let you start by having a Valentine's day party. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll mail you that and also my Washington's Birthday party leaflet.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Evelyn K.": You will be far wiser to simply pitch the anonymous letter and forget it. Anyone who will send an anonymous communication is beneath contempt. In answer to your other question, telephone the main post office for the information.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Reader": Anything silver colored, or any little gift wrapped in silver paper will answer the purpose. If you would like to have my list "Gift Suggestions," I'll mail it to you if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Jen": If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I'll mail you both my Valentine's day and Washington's Birthday party leaflets.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Helen J.": If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I'll mail you my Valentine's day and Washington's Birthday party leaflets.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "I.L.W.J.": At the Public Library you will find material on patents.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will not give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may inclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

"Dr. Crane, I fell in love with Marsha two years ago while we were in college," her boy friend informed me. "But she smokes a package of cigarettes a day. I have urged her to stop this habit, and she has professed a desire to do so, but she never does. Although I am not so narrow-minded as to disapprove entirely of girls who smoke, I shouldn't wish to marry anybody whose health has been harmed through smoking. If Marsha were to stop now, would she be a healthy mother capable of bearing healthy children? Dr. Crane, what are the injurious effects of tobacco?"

★ ★ ★

TOBACCO is not as injurious to one's safety and intelligence as alcohol, but it does have certain mental and physical disadvantages. Prof. C. L. Hull conducted one of the most thorough experiments on the effect of tobacco. He examined his subjects the first hour and a half after smoking, and found that mental mathematics, rote learning and memory span were reduced by use of tobacco. Recent medical investigations have also shown a decided influence of tobacco in causing spasms of the blood vessels, as of the hands and feet, so that the fingers may grow pale and cold as a result of smoking.

Whether repeated use of tobacco will contribute to a permanent state of high blood pressure, therefore, is suggested but not conclusively proved by such temporary effects on the blood vessels. Physicians, however, cut down or eliminate tobacco entirely in patients with various disease of the heart and blood vessels, showing their clinical fear of tobacco.

THERE ARE two other serious disadvantages of tobacco, especially in girls and women. First, smoking has a masculine flavor of connotation. As I have repeatedly warned you girl readers, never destroy any of your feminine appeal, for you become less attractive thereby to the opposite sex. Just as masculine profanity and slang, hard liquor and risque stories, callousness regarding children and other unfortunates, are detrimental to a girl's feminine charm, so is the use of tobacco. A stunning girl may win a man despite her use of alcohol and tobacco, but why jeopardize your chances by throwing away some of your feminine attractiveness?

★ ★ ★

TOBACCO also causes its victims to have the jitters as soon as they have gone without a cigarette overly long. So learn to control your life by your head instead of your stomach and other appetites. Eliminate your bad habits. Remember, too, that a typical cigarette smoker burns up more than $1 a week or $52 a year on tobacco.

If you wish my medico-psychological bulletin on "How to Quit Smoking," send a 3-cent stamped envelope, plus a dime. Write to me in care of the Post-Dispatch.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Thursday.

I HAVE been reading the memoirs of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and I find them very interesting. They are like him. Anyone who looks at his face has a feeling of the beauty of the character behind it. His memoirs are not petty in any way, and I think his judgment of people is on the same level.

He accepted great responsibility and carried it with courage and a high sense of duty. To have been Secretary of State through such a long period and in such troublous times is something that few men could have come through as he did, keeping the confidence and high opinion of the people as a whole.

MR. HULL HAS paid the price which so many men pay for hard and conscientious work. He finally had to give up because of ill health. But in spite of that, he has managed to finish his book, which to historians of the future will be an essential document. I cannot help hoping that his papers will some day find their way to the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park and be available for those who, in later times, wish to study this period.

That he saw more nearly eye to eye with my husband on foreign affairs than on domestic affairs does not surprise me. And his description of how he and my husband differed and then went on to other things is so characteristic that it is most amusing to me. My mother-in-law would have been happy to have him say such appreciative words about her, and I can well imagine how much she enjoyed their conversations.

A FRIEND HAS sent me an amusing quotation from the introduction by Walter Millis to the diaries of Raoul de Roussy de Sales. He wonders why so many people want solutions to social and international problems when in their own lives there are so many insoluble problems — they sometimes die without ever having found the complete solution to them.

I feel a little this way when I am being inundated with plans which people feel sure will solve all questions for the United Nations and bring us peace immediately. Long ago I made up my mind that all we could expect was to create an atmosphere in which peace could grow, to take up each step as it came and do the best we could, hoping that in solving little problems we would eventually create a basis which would help to solve our big problems.

If only our citizens could come to understand that there is no one solution to the problems before the world, and that each of us, in solving the problems of citizenship in our own community to the best of our ability, is contributing to the final solution of the big problem! That is one of the most important lessons that all of us can learn.

Creamed codfish makes a convenient Friday night supper dish. To prepare one-half salt codfish may be used; it should be soaked in cold water for four to six hours, then drained and cooked in fresh water for 15 to 20 minutes. It may then be shredded and added to the cream sauce.

Raisin Carmel Pie

Two cups seedless raisins, three-fourths cup granulated sugar, one and three-fourths cup water, three tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, one and one-half tablespoons cornstarch, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, two teaspoons vinegar, one-fourth cup chopped nutmeats, pastry for single nine-inch crust.

Rinse and drain raisins. Combine one-half cup sugar, one-fourth cup water and butter or margarine; cook gently without stirring until mixture is golden-brown in color. Mix well remaining one-fourth cup sugar, cornstarch, salt and cinnamon; blend in remaining one and one-half cups water and vinegar; add raisins. Stir into hot mixture and cook, continuing to stir, until browned sugar is dissolved and mixture has thickened. Mix in nutmeats. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in very hot (450 F.) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm. Six to eight servings.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

FROZEN MEATS are becoming more and more generally distributed. A lot of women are confused on how to handle this type of meat. They ask: Can one start cooking meat immediately, or should it be thawed out, where should it be thawed, and what should they do with juice that leaks out in the thawing process?

Roasts and thick steaks need to be thawed out before cooking. Those wafer thin, sliced little steaks do not need to be thawed because they thaw out within a minute after they touch the hot skillet. Thicker pieces of meat need to be bought plenty of time ahead to allow for thawing. It takes a roast weighing 5 to 7 lb. from 24 to 36 hours to thaw, and a steak weighing 1½ to 2 lbs. from 6 to 12 hours. This thawing should be done in a refrigerator. Allowing it to thaw out at room temperature would cause it to lose its fresh flavor and fine appearance. So the way to play safe gastronomically as well as hygienically is to thaw in the refrigerator. Of course, some liquid will always ooze out in the thawing. Every drop of this should be drained off and saved because it will add flavor and a little food value to the meat dish.

This juice could be poured over roast but to do so would cause it to curdle and become a disagreeable greyish color. It is far better to wait until roast is done and then add it to the drippings before blending in the flour for gravy. In this way the juices mix in and there is no unfavorable effect on the color, and it will improve the flavor of the gravy.

If Yorkshire Pudding is to accompany roast beef, remove beef from oven one-half hour before done. See directions for Yorkshire Pudding below as to how to proceed. Do not cover! Do not add water! This will take 18 to 20 minutes to the pound for rare meat; 22 to 25 minutes for medium; 27 to 30 minutes for well done. The thermometer should read 140F. for rare, 160F. for medium, 170F. for well done. When done, clip string and remove chine bone before transferring roast to platter. Cover to keep hot and make gravy from drippings. Nine to 11-pound roast makes 10 to 12 servings.

Buying hints: Rib roast should be at least two ribs thick. Beef ribs from United States Utility grade should be cooked by moist heat.

Yorkshire Pudding
(to accompany Roast Beef).

Sift flour, measure and resift with the salt. Beat the eggs, add the milk and flour mixture and continue beating with a rotary beater about two minutes. Increase oven temperature from 325 to 425F. Take roast out of oven; remove enough drippings from roasting pan to cover bottom of eight-inch square pan. Cover roast beef to keep warm. Heat pan until drippings are sizzling, then pour thin batter into hot fat. Bake uncovered for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375F. Uncover roast and return to oven and bake roast and pudding 30 minutes more. Cut pudding into squares and serve with roast. It won't be necessary to serve rolls with the pudding.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

WHEN your partner makes a penalty double of a very low contract, do not assume that because you have a singleton or a void in the doubled suit, he must be "loaded for bear." It is usually questionable that you should leave in the double with a singleton; it is usually unquestionable that, with a void, you should take out the double. Observe this typical case:

East, dealer.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| | ♠ Q72 ♥ J643 ♦ 8542 ♣ J2 | |
| | ♠ A10853 ♥ Q87 ♦ 9 ♣ AQ96 | |

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | 1 spade | Double | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

East adopted the philosophy so dear to the hearts of many players—that because he himself was void of spaces, his partner must be "loaded." That this is not a sound basis for leaving in a double was quickly proved. West was loaded, but it did him very little good!

West led his singleton heart; East won with the king, cashed the ace (on which West discarded a club), and led a third heart. West ruffed away South's queen and returned the diamond seven East won and, afraid to lead another heart lest declarer get a valuable discard while West was "wasting" a trump, returned a diamond. Declarer ruffed and led a low club. West went in with the king and led back his last diamond. Declarer ruffed again, cashed the ace and queen of clubs, then led the club nine.

At this point West was reduced to trumps—the K-J-9-6. If he ruffed with the king, his trump return would give declarer the balance. But his actual ruff with the nine-spot was no more effective. Declarer over-ruffed with dummy's queen and returned a trump, playing his own eight. West, after winning with the jack, had to lead from the K-6 up to declarer's A-10.

Thus, South made seven tricks, for a score of 60 points below the line and 50 points above (for fulfilling a doubled contract), whereas if East had taken out the double to two diamonds, (as he so obviously should have) West would have bid and made three no trump.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

Jest.

ONE of the interesting transferences in meaning taking place by way of quite orthodox etymology is in this word, jest. It might be regarded as something of a reminder to "put not thy faith in princes."

Actually a jest is essentially simply an action or deed; it has come down to its present meaning of a joke or amusing anecdote by a gradual evolution which can be traced in this way.

The derivation of jest is from the Old English jeste or geste meaning deed, story, tale, which came down through the old Old French from the Late Latin gesta meaning exploits, from the verb gestus, to bear, to carry, to accomplish! Nothing funny so far.

Now this word for action was applied to describe also the many masks and pageants which in olden times did constitute quite an accomplishment. "He promised us, in honor of our guest, to grace our pageant with some pompous jest." And so the term came to denote an action of one in authority: "The jest or actions of princes or captains."

At that point may lie the secret of the word's transition to mean something amusing. For kings and princes of history were known to have a one-sided sense of humor, and their actions often went unappreciated by the victims of it. Sometimes their jests took the form of broken promises, even where life and death were concerned. Certainly before Shakespeare's time the word was accepted in its modern sense, as he used it: "I must be sad, and smile at no man's jests."

Church Going And Happy Married Life

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

That's one answer to Mr. D., who has raised the question of "going to meeting." He hasn't been a regular churchgoer. His wife urges that they should go as a means of strengthening their marriage. "Will it do the job?", he inquires.

Not necessarily, Mr. D. The two of you might go to church twice every Sunday, and still be very poor imitations of a good husband and wife. Of course, there might be other reasons for going to church. But we are now considering the relation between religious activity and happiness in marriage; and many studies show that there is such a relationship.

Studying hundreds of family histories accumulated by the American Institute of Family Relations, Dr. L. M. Terman of Stanford University reported that happily married men "are in a distinct majority among those who like Bible study, dislike irreligious people, or believe it essential that children should have religious instruction.

"Unfavorable attitudes toward religious work and interests characterize more of the unhappy men. A larger percentage of the unhappy believe that religions do more harm than good, dislike Bible study, and dislike work with the Y.M.C.A. or K.C."

Similarly in their study of more than 500 couples in Chicago, Drs. Burgess and Cottrell found that husbands and wives who continued to take part in religious services and activities beyond the age of 19 rated much higher in marriage adjustment than couples who had never had religious training or those who had stopped attending religious services many years before marriage.

Howard M. Bell, studying 12,000 young people in Maryland, concluded that non-religious couples were three times as likely to end in the divorce court as were religious couples.

It is often explained that the real difference is between a conservative and a radical outlook on life — the conservatives tending to be more happy, both in marriage and out. But there are the facts, Mr. D. You and Mrs. D. can draw your own conclusions.

Questions and Answers

Q. They say "The course of true love never does run smooth," but I'm a bit discouraged, nevertheless, because of the difficulties my fiance and I are encountering.

A. Perhaps you should welcome them. It's often a misfortune for two persons in your situation to have no troubles. You need bad times to show what the two of you are likely to do in bad times. You don't know each other if you have had nothing but good times together.

Q. Don't you agree that women give a great deal more to marriage than men do?

A. I'll play it safe and let someone else answer. Dr. Lynn T. White Jr., distinguished president of one of the famous colleges for women, says, "Women are very expensive and want a lot for what they give." How would you answer that?

Q. Due to the sudden death of my husband, I must make my own way. Don't you think running a tearoom would be successful, since so many people eat out these days?

A. I believe experts agree that a tearoom is one of the worst risks for a woman in your position. Ask your public library for Julietta K. Arthur's new book "Jobs for Women over 35." It may save you from bankruptcy.

Raisin-'N-Pickle Sauce

One-half cup seedless raisins, one and three-fourths cups apple juice or cider, three tablespoons all-purpose flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three tablespoons sweet pickle relish, one teaspoon prepared mustard, two tablespoons vinegar, one-half teaspoon liquid gravy concentrate.

Add raisins to one and one-half cups of the apple juice or cider in a saucepan; bring to a boil and simmer about 10 minutes. Make a smooth paste of the flour and remaining one-fourth cup apple juice or cider; slowly add some hot apple juice to the paste, then gradually stir into liquid in saucepan. Add remaining ingredients and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Makes two cups sauce.
